Lawrence County Victory Loan Fund campaign leaders reported $2,253,805.75 of their goal of $5,400,000 subscribed when drive workers assembled in the Cathedral auditorium for their first report session this morning.

Drive heads said New Castle's total stands at $1,745,713.75—and that figure is included in the grand total for the whole county.

Cold No Handicap

The frosty morn didn't keep the campaigners away, and in some ways added considerable enthusiasm to the initial report roundup.

Opening at 9 o'clock, the program included inspirational addresses by Joel S. McKee, permanent chairman of the Lawrence County Victory Fund committee, and Patrick J. Flaherty, president

PA NEWC OBSERVES

There were a lot of folks in New Castle and Lawrence county who were entirely unaware that there was an air raid test at noon on Sunday. The test was statewide and entirely unannounced until the signal was given at noon, and many residents here report they did not hear any siren or notification of any kind.

New Castle and Lawrence county got a real touch of winter over the week-end. Snow started falling late Saturday afternoon, along with a drop in temperature, and by Sunday there was quite a covering of snow on the ground, with the thermometers indicating around 15 above. By this morning the temperature was down around ten degrees.

Train and bus travel during the Christmas holiday season will be greatly curtailed this year by civilians. Efforts are being made to halt civilian travel as much as possible during the holiday period, in order to allow accommodations for men in the armed forces.

Although local residents have been asked to refrain from making unnecessary phone calls following an air raid alert, District Manager Paul J. Baldwin states that the telephone load following such an occasion finds a great increase in the number of calls. The cooperation of the public is urged to prevent jamming the lines in the event that an emergency might exist.

Second Nazi Advance Smashed By Russians

By NATALIA RENE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Dec. 14.—A second Nazi advance within 24 hours through Russian lines on the central front was smashed today by the Red army.

The Soviet high command announced at noon that its offensives west of Moscow and in the Stalingrad region were continuing to make headway but it was admitted that desperate German counter-attacks resulted in temporary slight gains for the Nazis.

On one sector of the battle area around Rzhev, 130 miles northwest of Moscow, the communique said, the Germans counter-attacked and succeeded in pressing the Russians back.

"But after regrouping our troops attacked and threw the enemy back," the high command said.

Earlier it had been announced

Surprise Air Raid Test Here Sunday

Another air raid drill, this one the most complete surprise of any that have been held, caught a lot of churchgoers Sunday at noon. The drill lasted from twelve noon to twelve thirty.

More weaknesses were uncovered in the air raid drill, according to Louis B. Round, executive director of the Lawrence County Council of Defense. Due to many air raid wardens and district leaders being in church it was impossible to man the warden posts in full. In addition, not all sirens blew and many citizens knew nothing of the air raid drill.

"There is a need for strengthening some weak spots in the organization" said Mr. Round "and this will be done. From the errors and weaknesses of the air raid drills we learn lessons that can be applied to later drills.

Surprise Test State Wide

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 14.—Additional Sunday air raid tests were anticipated today in the wake of yesterday's surprise statewide alert in an effort to acquaint churchgoers more fully with defense precautions.

Preliminary reports indicated that the state's first Sunday drill was successful said Dr. A. C. Marts, executive director of the State Defense Council, "but by no means 100

More Youths From County Leave For Army This Morning

Farewell Ceremonies Conducted For Large Group Entraining For Camp

Despite the fact that this morning was one of the coldest of the season, a large crowd gathered at the Pennsylvania station to bid farewell to the second group of Selectees called into the service by County Board Two this month.

The group was one of the finest to leave in some weeks, all of them boys in the 20-year-old class, as has been mostly the case of those called into the service during the past few months, more men being in this group than the one which left Saturday.

The customary farewell ceremony was conducted at the station with Capt. Carl Andreasen and Charles E. Allen, representing the Service Men's Aid Association. The first aid unit of the Red Cross was also on hand as usual in case their services were needed in an emergency.

Air Raid Drill Is Unsatisfactory

Air raid drill in the city at noon Sunday was not satisfactory in the opinion of City Co-Ordinator Frank T. Sargent. In fact, very few persons knew there was an air raid drill under way.

Sargent reported that signals were not sounded except in certain sections of the city. He said the city siren system operated only on the "all clear" signal and this caused confusion.

Sargent reported that residents who live in the hill sections did not know an air raid drill was in progress because they did not hear the signals

Japanese Fail In New Attempts At Guadalcanal

Nipponese Troops, Bases And Shipping Are Being Blasted By Yanks

LATEST JAP NAVAL MOVE DISASTROUS

New Jap Airfield At New Georgia Island Is Effectually Bombed

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14—Backed by land, sea and air superiority American forces in the Guadalcanal area today cracked Japan's counter-invasion schedule, blasting Nipponese troops, bases and shipping with pyramiding success.

The manner in which American forces have smashed repeated Japanese attempts to reinforce their isolated Guadalcanal garrison indicated clearly that the U. S. high command has strengthened this nation's offensive and defensive units in the south Pacific since the Japanese defeat in the great Nov. 13-15 sea-air battle.

Foil Latest Attempt

Latest battle reports disclosed that American air and naval forces turned back another Japanese attempt to push supplies and troops into Guadalcanal by sinking one enemy destroyer, setting another on fire and damaging six more destroyers.

Growing strength of the U. S. air force in the south Pacific was indicated by the fact that American bombers at the same time were able to drop a total of 27,500 pounds of missiles on a recently-completed Japanese airfield at Munda on New Georgia island, 145 miles northwest of Guadalcanal.

"On Dec. 11 at 6 p. m. Douglas 'Dauntless' dive bombers supported by army 'Airacobra' fighters (Bell P-39) from Guadalcanal attacked a formation of 11 Japanese destroyers which was headed for Guadalcanal apparently for the purpose of reinforcing and supplying Japanese troops on the island," the navy said. "Bomb-hits were scored on five of the destroyers."

INFILTRATION MOVE BY AXIS HALTED

Especially Destructive Air Raid On Nazi-Held Dock Area Of Tunis

By LEO V. DOLAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Dec. 14.—The Allies today brought their increased air power to bear against the Axis in Tunisia by unleashing their greatest series of aerial assaults in the North African campaign.

After halting enemy infiltrating attempts along the battle line stretching from Mateur southward to Medjez-El-Bab, the Allies concentrated the heaviest series of air blows to date against Tunis, the captial, the naval base of Bizerte and the Sousse-Sfax-Gabes area on the Tunisian east coast.

Ground activity following the smashing of German efforts to infiltrate north and south of Medjez El Bab, 30 miles west of Tunis, was confined to patrol activity in the rain soaked, muddy battle area.

An Algiers radio report said that a French unit had captured an important position west of Sidi Bousi in southeastern Tunisia at bayonet point. The French were said to be presently harassing the Axis forces in a no man's land.

Temple Israel Program Marks Fifteenth Anniversary For Church Home

DR. S. B. FREEHOF MAKES ADDRESS

Fifteen years of service to New Castle Jewry and to the community were marked Sunday night, December 13, in Temple Israel when the fifteenth year of the temple's life was celebrated. The temple was erected in 1927 by a small group of Jewish citizens who believed there was a need for such an edifice. The years have proved their faith and Temple Israel is today a religious and a civic asset to New Castle.

For the principal speaker for the birthday dinner the committee selected a cultured Jewish divine, a speaker of forcefulness and inspiration, Dr. Solomon B. Freehof, rabbi of the Rodef Shalom temple in Pittsburgh. It was a happy choice for Dr. Freehof's address was the kind of message that is carried away by his auditors.

Tribute To President

Opening his address, Dr. Freehof paid tribute to the president of the congregation and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger. "It was the vision and inspiration of Marcus Feuchtwanger that made this building possible," said Dr. Freehof.

"What does America mean to us as Jews in these crucial days" asked

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14—Louise Ramsey, 24, was found dead in bed yesterday in her third-floor apartment, apparently the victim of self-inflicted stab wounds, the coroner reported today.

Though there were 4,000 American troops aboard, only four lives were lost when the former liner, S. S. President Coolidge, now a troop transport, struck a mine and was lost in the South Pacific. The 21,936-ton ship was the fifth American troop transport to be lost since hostilities began. Fully loaded with troops and equipment the transport was apparently en route to American South Pacific bases.

Only Church Goers Cooperate In Test

Pittsburghers Outside Churches Continue Business As Usual During Alert

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—Allegheny county civilian defense officials today were ready to award a mythical "E" to Pittsburgh church goers for their cooperation yesterday with the statewide air raid alert.

But, county officials emphasized, the populace outside the spiritual institutions could expect only an "F"—flunk.

The alert, which started at noon and lasted 20 minutes, caught citizens unawares. While church goers generally cooperated fully, automobiles, street cars and buses and pedestrians in the downtown sections continued business as usual for 10 to 15 minutes after the sirens sounded.

At least four sirens in the air raid system failed to function entirely because of a broken circuit, while several others downtown worked improperly because the cold weather jammed the mechanism.

Sees Some Problems Confronting New Castle When Army-Camp Opens

Problems that will arise in communities within a fifty mile radius of Transfer, Pa., when the new army replacement camp is opened there were discussed on Saturday with the mayor, city council, and officers of the Council of Defense by P. J. Maholchic of the Federal Security Agency, Office of Defense, Health and Welfare Services. Later in the day he conferred with Roger Jewett, executive vice president of the Greater New Castle association.

"The problems that will confront the cities in this area are varied," said Mr. Maholchic. "The matter of recreational facilities, morals conditions, rooms for men who stay over night, all of these present problems that will confront New Castle along with the other cities."

"The army is vitally interested in the welfare of the men when they are away from the military reservation. A soldier who is unfit is a liability and the army intends to see that everything is done to safeguard the health and physical fitness of the men when they are on pass or furlough."

"The job confronting such cities as New Castle is a challenging one. The new camp is not much more

Report Italians Pray For Peace

People Want War To End Is Report Through Neutral Channels

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14—Reports reaching Washington through neutral diplomatic channels today indicated that the people of Italy are beginning to pray for peace as never before in this war.

During recent weeks, according to the diplomatic reports, the Italian churches, particularly in the areas which have been subjected to heavy Allied bombing, have been filled with people on week days as well as Sundays praying for peace.

Thousands of civilian inhabitants of such cities as Turin, Genoa and Naples who have been evacuated to nearby hills are reported to be filling the country churches at morning mass imploring divine help that peace may be restored so that they can return to their homes and be spared the horror of death and destruction from the skies.

In the early days of the war, the Italian people prayed for victory, but since the defeat of the Axis armies in Egypt and the intensification of the Allied aerial offensive against Italy's industrial cities and ports, the diplomatic reports say the prayers are simply for peace.

While these reports are regarded as an encouraging sign of the Italian people's lack of enthusiasm for the war, official Washington does not foresee any liklihood of a complete collapse in Italy in the near future, nor any national revolt to overthrow Premier Benito Mussolini and his Fascists.

Germany's hold on Italy is considered too strong to enable that country to escape from its own bondage without the help of an Allied invasion. Latest diplomatic reports available in Washington estimate there are about 10 divisions of German troops in Italy, as well as thousands of Gestapo agents and administrators

New Yorkers Get No Morning Paper

Unexpected Strike Of Distributors Stops Delivery To News Stands, Stations

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 14—New Yorkers—and suburbanites for miles around—were without their morning papers today because of an unexpected strike of 3,300 members of the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers union.

Demanding "improved" pay and working conditions the truck drivers last night refused to deliver papers to city news stands and railroad stations alike. Representatives of the unions and publishers of the eight morning and evening papers affected conferred until 6:30 a. m. without reaching a decision.

There was a possibility that even the afternoon papers—The Journal-American, Sun, Post and World-Telegram, also would be unable to distribute their editions should the strike continue.

CAIRO, Dec. 14.—Armored units of the British Eighth Army, attacking behind an armada of Allied fighter-bombers, streaked westward across the Libyan desert today in pursuit of Axis forces driven from their El Agheila defenses in a strong thrust aimed at crushing the remnants of the once-vaunted Afrika Corps.

"The enemy is retreating westward relentlessly pursued by leading elements of our forces," a communique of the Middle East high command said.

(The crushing sweep through Nazi General Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's defenses was admitted by the German radio which said that "it is officially announced in Berlin that Rommel has withdrawn his forces from El Agheila to positions further to the west.")

Over 100 Dead In Dance Hall Fire

New Holocaust Over Week End

Blaze At St. John's, N. F., Causes Heavy Death Toll Saturday Night

SOURCE OF BLAZE NOT DETERMINED

(International News Service)

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Dec. 14.—The grim death toll in a second bizarre dance hall fire in two weeks rose slowly today as military authorities began intensive inquiries into the blaze that killed at least 100 persons at a service men's dance Saturday night.

The raging flash fire, swept through the Knights of Columbus center in St. John's in much the same fashion as a similar blaze destroyed Boston's famed Cocoanut Grove night club with a loss of nearly 500 lives. Many of the victims, largely service men, and some of them Americans, were trapped in the panic which enveloped the dancers as someone shouted the tragic word: "Fire!"

As at Boston, too, a large number of the victims still were unidentified hours after the blaze completely destroyed the K. of C. center. In addition to the known dead, 102 men and women were badly burned and many were given little chance to recover.

Origin Of Fire Mystery

Breaking out with a suddenness that rivaled the Cocoanut Grove fire, the blaze interrupted a service men's radio program emanating from the hall. Dancers danced to the music when the fire started, no one has as yet said where. The radio program went dead with the announcement that the building was on fire.

Spreading swiftly through the building, the fire brought on an immediate stampede for the exits. Many bodies were found jammed against the doorways and other victims lay on the floor, trampled to death.

Civilians who had been listening to the radio program, immediately rushed into the streets and to the scene to aid in rescue work. For some unexplained reason, the alarm wasn't received at fire headquarters until 12 minutes later.

Many Dive Through Windows

When the first fire apparatus arrived, flames already had turned the building into a raging inferno. Thus, early rescue efforts were voluntary, and largely ineffective. Many of the 500 persons attending the dance saved themselves by diving through windows.

Eyewitnesses said "curtains of flame" covered the main doorway and exist. Three hours were needed to bring the fire under control, with low, biting temperatures adding to the difficulties.

Hospital staffs, trained disaster units and ambulances were soon on the job to aid the passersby who sprang to the rescue. Emergency morgues were established in nearby buildings and the injured were transported to overcrowded hospitals in all sorts of conveyances.

The scene, in fact, was almost a replica of that in Boston, though on a smaller scale. Groups of young people who had escaped the blaze, aided in rescue work or stood by helplessly. Relatives appealed frantically to authorities for word of their loved ones.

Largely because of the expected large number of military victims, no casualty lists were announced immediately. Indication that some of them were Americans was contained, however, in the statement that names of the victims from the armed services would come from Ottawa and Washington.

SECOND NAZI ADVANCE SMASHED BY RUSSIANS

that a battalion of Nazis in the Velikie Luki area still further west had pressed the Soviets back to a slight degree. These German troops, it was said, were surrounded by skillful maneuvering that the Russians are fighting to annihilate them.

Besides thwarting the Nazi advance west of Rzhev the Russians smashed forward at other places to drive the Germans out of several strong points.

Repel Counter-Attacks

Numerous blockhouses and pillboxes were destroyed in heavy fighting in the northern factory area of Stalingrad.

Northwest of Stalingrad the Russians consolidated themselves in new positions and repelled German counter-attacks. Additional counter-attacks. Additional counter-attacks also were repulsed southwest of Stalingrad.

Continuous artillery duels were fought in the factory area of northern Stalingrad where the Soviet defenses forces, now holding the initiative, smashed the Germans from 11 blockhouses and several buildings. A total of 180 Germans were slani in fighting in the factory area, the high command said.

Russian troops crashed into the first and second line of German trenches on the southern outskirts of the city, and inflicted numerous other casualties.

A larger toll of Nazi dead was taken northwest of Stalingrad where several strategic points were seized by the Soviets after they killed 400 Germans in battle.

On the central front west of Moscow the Russians busied themselves with consolidating newly-won positions as well as continuing the offensive.

Revised figures issued by U. S. Army Air Force headquarters yesterday revealed that three American heavy bombers were credited with destroying 12 of the intercepting Germans.

In the hottest action American bomber crews have yet seen in operations over France, enemy aircraft were constantly encountered from the time the formations approached the French coast until they were half way across the English channel on the return trip.

Bus Situation Again Discussed

Council May Seek To Get Aid From State In Situation Here

During council this morning solons discussed the bus situation.

It was indicated council might attempt to interest someone in the state capitol to help alleviate the bus situation here.

Any complaint against the bus system would have to be made by a private citizen because the city cannot do anything but regulate the buses operation, Solicitor R. M. White pointed out to council.

HEAVY AIR BLOWS ARE UNLEASHED AGAINST TUNISIA

by the British first army under command of Lieut. Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson had been launched in the Medjez El Bab region but claimed that the assault was repulsed and that the British lost 13 tanks.

The German radio also claimed that the Axis achieved an important success against a strong mixed unit of British and American troops west of Tebourba. It was asserted by the enemy that the allied units were driven out of two localities. None of the Axis claims were supported in allied quarters.

The Nazis' Vichy radio asserted that the Axis countered the allied aerial assaults with a rain on Bone, point of disembarkation in eastern Algeria, sinking an 8,000-ton freighter in the harbor.

Blast Tunis and Bizerte

American Flying Fortresses and Liberator bombers heavily blasted both Tunis and Bizerte with medium bombers as the United States air force conducted sweeping raids against Sfax, Gabes and Sousse.

The raids along the southeast coast were designed to smash German rail communications and blow up key bridges in the area.

Warehouses, docks and shipping were blasted at Tunis. The docks at Bizerte also came in for heavy bombings.

These assaults, dispatches from allied headquarters in north Africa said, were the greatest sustained raids to date.

"The whole target area, 16 blocks long and two blocks wide, were covered with dust, smoke and flames," Lieut. Col. Sam Gormly of Alhambra, Cal., leader of the Tunis raid, said.

"On large warehouse section was set aflame. One bomb hit a vessel and other hits were made on the docks."

Lightning P-38 fighters escorted the Fortresses on the raids and all returned. Heavy anti-aircraft fire was sent up against the American planes but they encountered no opposition from enemy planes.

ANNIVERSARY IS CELEBRATED

Dr. Freehof. "This is our homeland, not because of our citizenship, but because the soul of our Bible was the spirit of its foundation. Like the old Jewish people, the Pilgrims ran away from persecution and oppression. The Hebraic spirit brooded over the old New England settlement. Indeed the Pilgrims discarded to a extent the custom of naming their sons after the saints and went back to the old testament for such names as Adam, Joab and Jeremiah. Their girls they gave such names as Rachel and Beulah.

"In the tear stained countries of Europe, hatreds and prejudices flourish. Hate seems a part of the life of the people. But here in America the pioneers found a new land where the very air seemed to dissipate hates and prejudices."

Feed the People

"Hate has no part of our national makeup. Today our armies are fighting the battle of freedom over the world and the Angel of Hope flies before those armies.

"Our American way is not the way of other countries. Hardly had our troops landed in North Africa but our President ordered food sent to the people there. A gesture typically, beautifully and generously American.

Even now, with the war not yet won we are planning for the post war conditions. Already our President has appointed an administrator looking towards feeding the starving peoples of Europe. That administrator is an American of Jewish descent, Herbert Lehman. The appointment of Lehman is Jewish revenge. We can say to Hitler, you killed our people, we feed yours."

The celebration was under the general chairmanship of J. E. Raffel, who had the audience sing "America" before the invocation by Rabbi Leo E. Turitz, rabbi of Temple Israel. Following the service of the dinner by the staff of the Leslie Hotel, Mr. Raffel introduced the toastmaster of the evening, Abe Levine. Mr. Levine was most adequate in his handling of the program.

President's Address

The first address scheduled was that of Marcus Feuchtwanger, president of the congregation since its organization. Due to an indisposition Mr. Feuchtwanger was unable to speak but his address was read by his wife. In it he expressed his appreciation of the co-operation he had received in the past 15 years.

For the temple, the first vice president, J. F. Perelman, spoke briefly. Mr. T. H. Marlin spoke for the sisterhood of which she is the president and Miss Leah Marlin, president of the Temple Youth, spoke for the organization of young people. Fred L. Rentz, president of The News, recalled incidents of the early days of the temple and paid tribute to the work of the temple and its congregation. Others who spoke briefly were Calvin Lightman of Hazelton, Pa., Second Vice President Abe H. Gonick, Charles Mann of Beaver Falls and Alvin Shenken.

Special Solos

Miss Ruth Drescher was heard in a group of solos that were appreciated. She was accompanied by Mrs. William L. Cosel. During the course of the program Toastmaster Levine announced that a group of 12 men of the congregation had pledged $2,000 to the reduction of the mortgage.

For the dinner the stage of the dining room was decorated with a tree, hung with chrystal, symbolical of the chrystal anniversary. Rabbi Gilbert A. Elefant of the Tifereth Israel synagogue pronounced the benediction.

It was a joyous affair one of anniversary and thanksgiving. It ended a period of 15 years of service but it started a period of even greater service.

It is probable that the matter will be taken up by the Greater New Castle association and the Citizens' Service Corps. Once shown the necessity of action here there is little doubt that New Castle will answer the challenge.

REASON NO. 9
The first demonstration of a good Hearing Aid is always dramatic. To one who has known the strain of not hearing well, the relief, the thrill of hearing again is almost unbelievable. But this first happy half hour is not what the individual wants. What he seeks are many happy hours—weeks and months and years of the same kind of improved hearing. Sonotone gives him just that.

FAITH
AMEN—GOVERNOR-ELECT MARTIN
Your sentiments expressed in Sunday's Sun-Telegraph, are mine exactly. Small business men are being driven out of business trying to fill out questionnaires that they receive every day. Our Government has said that 300,000 small business men must close.
It only takes a few brains to look back and be convinced that it is the small business that keeps the country going, not the large ones. When they are driven out of business, we are just done. The same applies to the small and medium size taxpayer, who is being taxed out of his home and life's earnings. When these two units are out, the country is out.
If hundreds of thousands of men who are employed making out questionnaires and doing other unnecessary things such as telling small business men how to run their business, when they know nothing about such things, were in the army or in war production, it would be much better for all of us.
Of course if the small business man could get some government contracts, at cost plus 10%, he would soon be a big business man.

MISS McGEORGE IS FETED AT PARTIES

Honoring Miss Marjorie McGeorge, bride-elect of Delbert Denniston, of Dayton, O., whose engagement was recently announced, a series of lovely parties have been given, and on Saturday she graced the role of honor on two different occasions.

In the evening a group of her close friends gathered in the home of Miss Marian Ross, 307½ Highland avenue, and tendered her a party, which proved a total surprise.

The time was devoted to a round of cards, and following a delicious repast was served by the hostess.

Climaxing the event, Miss Ross entered the room carrying the huge "Monday Wash Day" basket, which concealed a collection of prettily wrapped packages. When opened, the guest of honor found many attractive and useful gifts for her kitchen when she goes to housekeeping.

Saturday afternoon Miss McGeorge was guest of honor in the home of Mrs. Crawford Lyon, on Garfield avenue. She, too, entertained at a tastefully appointed party which was in the nature of a dessert-bridge and shower.

At 1:30 o'clock the assemblage was served tempting dessert at tables suggestive of the season. Attention was given to cards during the remaining hours, with three tables of players competing for honors. Miss Marjorie Blim, Miss Dorothy McClurg and Miss Dorothy Blim were the prize-winners.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Gerald Morris, of Warren, O., and Mrs. Guy Shugert, Jr., of Rochester, Pa.

A collection of beautiful gifts of a miscellaneous nature were presented to the bride-elect, whose marriage will take place this month.

"The Messiah" Sung Sunday In Cathedral Is Outstanding

The fact that cold weather prevailed didn't interfere with the exceptional presentation of "The Messiah" on Sunday evening, given before a well-filled and appreciative audience in the Scottish Rite Cathedral by The Music club chorus. Mrs. William J. Caldwell was director of the chorus of almost a hundred voices. Other choirs of the city joined in this year's program, which proved outstanding in every phase.

Full and rounded accompaniments were furnished by Mrs. Jay L. Reed at the Cathedral console, and Mrs. Richard K. Allen, who presided at the grand piano.

After the introduction the overture was played by Mrs. Reed. Following, the assemblage joined in the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner".

The invocation was offered by the Rev. Burr R. McKnight of the First Methodist church.

"Comfort Ye My People" was sung clearly and distinctly by Andrew Di Lorenzo.

The lovely lyrical voice of Mrs. Ross D. Rosenberger was never heard to better advantage than her singing of the recitatives, "There Were Shepherds" and the several recitations following this. The deep, resonant voice of Mrs. George D. Strehler was beautiful in her solos, which she sang with ease and understanding. She has the distinction of appearing as soloist in "The Messiah" for a chorus in Youngstown, O., and Warren, O., this year, as well as in her home city here.

The Prophecy was impressively closed by the beautiful and sympathetic singing of the chorus in "All We, Like Sheep, Have Gone Astray".

Following several choruses Samuel McCleary, basso, sang in concise, well modulated tones, "Why Do the Nations So Furiously Rage."

The triumphant closing was the singing of "Hallelujah" by the entire chorus.

Dr. D. L. Ferguson, of Highland United Presbyterian church, gave the benediction.

Announcements were made by Dr. John J. McIlvaine, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Given under the auspices of the Ministerial association and the capable direction of Mrs. William J. Caldwell, "The Messiah" was exceedingly well given. Singers from Ellwood City, Portersville, Wampum and New Wilmington found time and made special effort to be present for rehearsals for the past several weeks, joining in with the Music club chorus and others for the 1942 presentation.

The faithful and untiring efforts of Mrs. William J. Caldwell and her assistants were well rewarded by the results of the evening.

WINIFRED HUNTER WEDS HARRY B. YOUNG

One of the loveliest weddings of the season was performed Saturday evening on the high altar of St. Paul's Lutheran church at 7 o'clock, uniting in marriage Miss Winifred Mae Hunter, daughter of Mrs. William Black, 502 Florence avenue, and Harry Braeden Young, son of Mr and Mrs. Mansfield Young, 623 Forest street.

Rev. A. M. Stump officiated at the candlelight service, and the bridal party approached as Lohengrin's wedding march was played as the processional. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played for the recessional. Miss Weir, church soloist sang, "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "O, Promise Me."

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Harry Richey, the bride was charming in a beige ensemble, with green accessories, and a shoulder corsage of yellow roses and orchids. She carried a white Bible, a gift from her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Richey. For something old, borrowed and blue, she carried a blue ribbon that her grandmother, Mrs. Harry Richey, wore at her wedding 52 years ago.

Mrs. Harold Brown, as matron of honor, was attired in a white ensemble, with plum accessories, and she wore a corsage of pink roses.

Willis Peterson served as best man.

Supplementing the ceremony, a wedding reception followed in the home of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Richey, 205 North Walnut street, with approximately 45 attending.

WINNING THE WAR ON SABOTAGE

ONE remarkable feature of America's first year of war, one that has not received overmuch attention, is the fact that not one major act of sabotage was committed in the United States during that time. Considering the magnitude and diversity of American war production, this year-long immunity is the more noteworthy.

It is not, we may be sure, for lack of trying. Our enemies would want nothing better than to destroy or cripple our war plants and other important installations. Absence of sabotage has been due, in the words of Attorney General Biddle, to the prompt apprehension of potential saboteurs, to the alertness of the FBI and local police and to the adoption of plant protection programs.

The war against the enemy within is an endless and usually a hidden one. Preventive measures are not spectacular, but they are indispensable. To keep our war production free of sabotage, ceaseless vigilance is required. We have had it up to now, and there can be no relaxation until the war is ended.

COFFEE CONSUMPTION

Concern is being expressed in the countries of Latin America over the peril to the coffee trade in switching a portion of the American population to coffee substitutes or coffee admixtures by rigid coffee rationing.

America has been the one great market left to producers in Latin America. It is the largest coffee consuming market on earth and has been increasing the use of coffee, per capita consumption jumping recently from thirteen to sixteen pounds a year. The average consumption on the part of those who regularly drink coffee has reached an estimated twenty pounds a year.

In peacetime coffee, as a commodity, leads all imports into the United States both in tonnage and value. It represents in the fourteen coffee-producing countries from 50 to 90 per cent of the total value of all their exports. Their economic life is dependent on the coffee trade and they are determined that nothing shall happen to reduce permanently the rate of consumption of the beverage.

ALLIED WHIPSAW

Repeated air attacks by the Allies over Hitler territory are proof that in aerial equipment the Allies now have the power to stage offensives on more than one front. Hitler no longer has the aerial equipment to parry these thrusts at more than one point at a time.

During the period that was required for America and Britain to organize their North African campaign and launch their offensive against Tunisia, Hitler had opportunity to draw off many of his first line military planes from Russia and elsewhere. These he rushed to Italy and Tunisia, with the object of challenging the Allies, defeating them, and then shunting his planes back to other fronts.

But not only have the Allies not been defeated in the air over Tunisia but they have been attacking Italy with great effectiveness. At the same time they continue to shake industry and transportation in the Reich with highly successful forays. It is evident whenever one of these is made that Hitler has drawn his protecting planes off for use on other fronts.

An indicated pattern of the future is a virtually unimpeded and continuous air attack on some part of Germany or occupied Europe. If Hitler throws his now limited forces to the north, the Allies will lash at him from the south, and vice versa.

And when America and Britain get ready to go into the continent of Europe with infantry to wind up the war, they will operate under an impenetrable air canopy which will ward off what will be left of the luftwaffe which once controlled the skies of Europe.

ALPHABETICAL CASUALTY

Stating that he finds a national relief program no longer necessary, President Roosevelt has ordered that the Works Projects Administration be liquidated. The alphabetical agency has been commonly known as the WPA.

The job of liquidation is to be completed by February 1 or "as soon thereafter as possible." This would appear to mean at the latest the end of the fiscal year, June 30, for after that date no appropriation would be available. In view of the complexion of the new congress which convenes in three weeks, it is doubtful if any appropriation could have been achieved to carry on the WPA.

Thus will pass the organization that, coming into existence seven years ago as the successor of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, has up to the present spent $10,500,000,000 of public funds for work relief. The President gives it high praise. Perhaps he has fond recollections of the political service rendered by the outfit.

But there will always remain widespread controversy about the praiseworthiness of WPA. Mr. Roosevelt puts great emphasis on the work done. But it is a question how much work might have been done at the same cost or less, or how many more workers might have benefited under a setup that integrated federal-state-local effort.

There was waste and inefficiency, and there were political scandals which beset WPA after congress decreed that state administrators and other high officials must be confirmed by the senate.

It will come as a surprise to many persons to learn that 350,000 persons are still on WPA rolls. It is to be hoped that these can be absorbed by the war effort without delay. That may not be easy as to the unskilled. While they might qualify as farm hands, most of them are located in urban areas and unless some way is found for moving them into the country, they may have to be carried on local relief rolls. But there are jobs today for them unless the mass of red tape in which employment has been entwined prevents them from returning to private employment.

Under rationing if beefsteak resembles leather it may have been purchased on a shoe coupon.

The government seems to be convinced that happiness can be pursued with very little gasoline in the tank.

One of the hardest things to swallow is the statement that our ancestors never had the things we are asked to do without.

Japan has lost 400 ships in the Pacific to 86 for America. Saving ships will soon become as important as saving face in Tokyo.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

AVERTING CHILD DELINQUENCY

Before we will have won the war, more than half the mothers of the United States may be working outside the home. The problem of protecting and guiding their children is appalling.

In several eastern cities, teachers, even of the primary grades, have told me that some children are coming to school with keys pinned, tied or sewed in them. See what it means to the child of six, ten or fifteen going home from school every day to find no mother to greet him, guide and protect him. While a few of these children will profit from the opportunity to cultivate self-reliance and responsibility, most of them will suffer. They will roam the streets and be endangered in health and morals.

The children who have been guided in their earlier years in good conduct and citizenship in the community and in self-reliance and responsibility are more fortunate when their mothers work. So all those mothers who are not working now should prepare their children to get along as well as possible when the mothers work.

As I have said before in this column, each community either must choose to take care of the children of working mothers while these mothers are at work, and of school children as well as of those under school age, or be forced to spend enormous sums of money (and meet all the dire consequences), on juvenile delinquency and crime later.

It is so much cheaper to prevent crime than to pay for it. Yet the money cost is nothing in comparison to the cost in character and citizenship.

After this war we need the finest crop of growing children possible to become the re-builders of our nation and carry on after the victory.

Every mother who is not working outside the home needs to try to be a better mother with a view to developing the best possible character and citizenship in her children, to be good models for less privileged children. This mother needs, moreover, to do her utmost to provide ways and means of protecting the children of other mothers who are working.

I have written a special bulletin designed to help young mothers control their young child wisely and effectively through means of punishment, pointing out the few kinds of situations when they will properly spank and the many other situations when they should not. "How to Teach Tot Meaning of No" is a pamphlet which may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th St., New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Are there some good books for a parent to read about the young child's religious interests and experience?

A. Yes; I have prepared a selected list of such books to be had without cost to you by writing me in care of this paper enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it. Also a "Prayer for Parents" which I have written for myself.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

The President says the federal government is now the largest single employer in the nation.

It is also the largest single factor in the lives of its 130,000,000 stockholders.

From a modest beginning the federal government has now progressed to a point where it takes three inches off the tail of your shirt, three years of incomes and three years out of your life to fill out questionnaires.

Washington was laid out in a geometric pattern to which the lives of the citizens are being adapted.

It is the only beehive in the world in which the occupants buzz while the honey is brought in from the outside.

It is more complicated than a plate of spaghetti and has more loose ends.

Washington makes nothing, sells nothing, produces nothing and always meets its payrolls.

It has never failed to meet a crisis by ordering more desks.

IN FLANDERS FIELDS (1942)
(After Lieut.-Col. John McRae, 1918)

In Flanders Fields the Germans go
Between the crosses, row on row,
Which mark the graves of Freedom's dead.
Greta bombers battle overhead
And flame again the guns below.

We are your dead! Short years ago
We gave our lives that you might know
Freedom and peace, and now we stir
In Flanders Fields.

Hear us once more. To battle go!
Hold high the torch! Drive back the foe!
Keep faith with us—land, sky and sea!
Set every captive nation free,
Then we can sleep, where poppies grow
In Flanders Fields.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:36; sun rises tomorrow 8:15.

A Chicago lawyer got a divorce from his wife, a Hollywood actress, because he had only one meal in his home in the five months they were married. Maybe his stomach was better off at that.

We have noticed that free speech has cost some people a lot of money.

A marriage is like unto a cafeteria in this: Man grabs what looks attractive to him at the moment and pays when he's fed up.

Neighbors are people who wonder when that danged party is going to end.

If a girl don't watch her figure the boys won't either.

People are always disappointed when "liberated." A few big shots still boss, while carpenters keep on sawing boards.

What did you do in the great war, Daddy. I spent most of my time filling out complicated reports to the government.

People learned about shortages during Prohibition, when there was no hooch for anybody but officials and the rich.

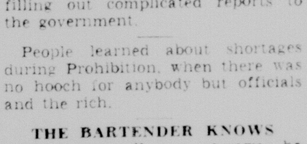
THE BARTENDER KNOWS

He knows all our sorrows, he knows all our joys.
He knows all the girls who are chasing the boys.
He knows all our troubles, he knows all our strife, he knows every man who ducks out from his wife.
If the Bartender told all he knows, he would turn all our friends into bitterest foes.
He would start forth a story, which gaining in force, would cause all our wives to sue for divorce.
He would get all our homes mixed up in a fight, he would turn all our bright days into sorrowful nights.
In fact he would keep the town in a stew, if told one-tenth of all he knew.
So when out on a party, and from home you steal, drop in for a drink, the Bartender won't squeal.

Many people these days need a kick in the seat of their cant's.

The annual meetings are about the most interesting meetings of the year. That's when things happen that were never thought of during the year.

Everybody has a guaranteed cure for a cold except a doctor.



A nick town is a place where you can't trade with one merchant without making the other one mad.

'More true today than ever before' . . . It seems that Tommy was meandering homeward much later than his usual suppertime. A neighbor who happened to meet him and thinking to hurry his leisurely pace said: "Why, Tommy, aren't you afraid you will be late for supper?"

"Nope," replied Tommy calmly, "I've got the meat."

A pocketbook is a nice Christmas gift. Of course it is nicer with a photograph in it of some prominent American on a nice narrow strip of paper of a green color.

"What would you say if I asked you to marry me?" "Nothing. I can't talk and laugh at the same time."

A woman's dress maker knows almost as many secrets about her figure as her doctor.

"Over There" these times means a lot of places.

It used to be that people wanted to go places but did not have the money. Now they can't go places because they have no way of going except to walk.

Some of the dictators in Europe are ordering the people to work or die. Buying War Bonds in this country by just being kindly asked to is far better than that.

When a man asked a small boy if his watch told the time, the boy said "Naw, you've got to look at it."

We the people would rather make mistakes than have a dictator make them for us.

FISH STORY

I went fishing with my brother and, though he caught a limit of trout, I fished right next to him without a bite. The next day we hit the same hole, and again he got a creelful in no time at all, and I was blanked. On the third day, I sneaked out without my brother and fished in the hole my brother had so much success in.

Nothing happened all day, and as I was packing up to leave a big trout stuck his head a foot out of water and said:

"Where's your brother today?"

DINNER CLOTHES OR NOT

"Last week I entertained several guests at a house party. On Saturday night we all went to the country club for dinner. All were in dinner clothes but one couple who neglected to bring theirs along. My husband and I were in a quandary as to what to do, but we finally decided that since the majority of our guests were in dinner clothes we should wear ours also. What is correct in these circumstance?"—Hostess.

Answer: In courtesy to your guests who have no dinner clothes, you should have worn informal dinner dress as they did. The host and hostess should always dress down to the most modestly dressed guests.

In future if this happens do not wear dinner or evening clothes even though all but one of your guests wears them.

Question: (1) Is it or is it not correct for a girl to assist slightly a young man with his overcoat? (2) Should a girl ask a man who is spending the evening with her to come again when he leaves? (3) When ordering a meal at a restaurant is the dessert ordered at once with the other courses, or later after these are finished?—D. V. M.

Answer: (1) She should not assist him with his overcoat. (2) No. Let him ask if he might call again. (3) After the salad course is over the waiter comes over with the menu and asks for the dessert order.

FIVE LITTLE WORDS

There are five little words,
I'd have you know,
They are "Pardon me,"
"Thank you," and "Please."
Oh, use them quite often
Wherever you go.
There are few words
More useful than these.
These five little words
Are filled with a power
That money or fame
Cannot give;
So commit them to memory,
This very hour,
And use them
As long as you live!

It was at the Press Club, and two columnists were exchanging 'small talk.' Said one: "If I work late at night, I invariably have difficulty in getting to sleep afterwards."

And the other advised: "Why don't you try reading over what you have written?"

Colonel Lawrence of Arabian fame told of how an Arab shiek, after hearing the Western scholar recount the wonders revealed by the telescope, said: "You foreigners see millions of stars, and nothing beyond. We Arabs see only a few stars . . . and God."

It is reported that the popularity of "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition" spread from coast to coast—Boston to San Diego in three days and eight hours from the time it was first sung in public. Gosh! That's almost as fast as a "whispering campaign."

Helene (5 years old): "Mother dear, can hens live at the seashore?"

Mother: "Why yes. Why do you ask?"

Helen: "Because I heard father tell the new maid he would take her out in the car as soon as he had sent the old hen to the seashore."

"Compulsory saving" of fifteen billion should solve the problem. Shortages don't worry an empty pocketbook.

If that cat could live 41 days by licking the protective oil coating from a crated engine, we've found a way to arm and feed our allies at one stroke.

We think the man who says 60 per cent of the human race has one leg shorter than the other ought to go back and find which is shorter, right or left. Give us details.

"Father," asked the small boy of his Dad, "What do they mean when they speak of 'civic pride'?"

"Well, Son, it's something like this: If the State Institution for the Demented is located in your own city, we refer to it as the State Hospital. However, if it is located in some other city, we call it the Insane Hospital."

A small spark makes a big fire.

Being cute is the first step toward being sassy.

"She's the image of her mother." "Yes, a talking picture."

If the husband finds he can't have the last word, let him try for the last three words "I Love You."

Pay as you go is a good thing. Good plan to follow right now.

Did you ever think how you would feel if you were ordered to work if you did not need the money?

Rationing Of Liquor May Stretch Supply
Anti-Prohibitionistic Sentiment Begins
Apprehension Expressed By The Drinkers

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Liquor rationing is coming into effect in various parts of Dixie and maybe in some northern neighborhoods. I haven't had an opportunity to investigate the latter, but for my advices from the southland I'm indebted to informants who've been there recently and know what they're talking about.

This isn't a recrudescence of prohibition. Predictions were made that that would be a wartime development, but it hasn't appreciably manifested itself, as yet, anyway. Probably the recollection of our last experience hasn't worn off so soon.

The present apprehension evidently is that a scarcity threatens and that a few selfish consumers shouldn't be permitted to sop up the entire supply of alcohol regardless of the general community's appetite, just as sugar, coffee and such stuff shouldn't be hogged indifferently to the public interest.

In its way, it verges on being an anti-prohibitionistic sentiment. The theory is that all and everybody's right to an occasional drink should be guaranteed against the greed of a comparatively small number.

Federal machinery for the enforcement of restrictions is lacking thus far.

To date they're being administered, here and there, on a country-wide basis, but the aim's to make it state-wide, and, later, national, is possible. Retailers may be pretty hard to manage, but distillers can be controlled very rigorously. If, then, the retailer oversells himself, he simply will have his subsequent orders disregarded by his wholesaler. He won't have the goods to dispense, no matter how loudly his customers may holler for 'em.

Stretching It

Official statistics indicate that the reservoir of hard drinks is sufficient to meet a three-year normal over-the-bar demand. The scheme's to make it last for five years.

Beer isn't mentioned. That may come later.

A price ceiling perhaps likewise will take care of itself automatically presently.

The saloonist doubtless can be trusted to boost the lid independently.

Another odd little thing is becoming apparent in connection with wartime influences upon the Yankee drinkatite.

Men and women differ in tastes as to their pet lubricants.

It wasn't noticed until the advent of the holiday season.

Then, at all clubs and public gathering-places, WAACS and WAVES began to call overwhelmingly for tasty concoctions like eggnog and similar sweetly-tasting mixtures.

To the masculine taste these dopes class virtually as candy.

The boys think the gals should adapt themselves to a menu of vicious slugs of "licker," same as male addiction. The ladies, they say, are soldiers in this generation, and ought to conform accordingly.

The gals reply that they've been

Bible Thought For Today

Seest thou a man wise in his own conceit? There is more hope of a fool than of him.—Proverbs 26:12.

Hints On Etiquette

A good host or hostess does not explain in whispers to his guest that so-and-so, one of the company, is very rich or influential. Although the one to whom he whispers may be glad of the information, he will feel placed in an inferior position, which is not one a thoughtful host or hostess would care to place friends.

The World and the Mud Puddles

NOT EXACTLY EVEN

There was a great deal of discussion following World War No. 1 about slackers that stayed at home and made much monies while the courageous, the good citizens, went to war. There was also much criticism of the large profits made by the companies selling war material to the government.

The conclusion of a great many military minded people was to the effect that in the event of another war both Capital and Labor were to be practically conscripted along with those who were drafted to do the fighting.

Now it seems as though Capital was pretty thoroughly conscripted but Labor is not and still there does not seem to be any equality of sacrifice and patriotism.

Cataloging the condition of Capital and Labor and both the volunteer, and drafted service men, we find:

Capital

Wages of capital and savings have been reduced.

Low interest rates are controlled.

Taxation is based upon ability to pay.

Capital gains are taxed.

Confiscatory taxes prevent reserves needed for post-war employment of idle men.

Anti-trust laws prohibit trade combinations.

Business profits and salaries are curtailed.

Peacetime policies are surrendered.

Business is regulated by the Government.

Labor

Wages of labor are constantly increased.

Wages raised by the Government Labor Board have increased the cost of the war.

Extra pay demanded and allowed for work exceeding forty hours per week.

Selfish strikes hinder war production.

Fees are charged for union permits to do war work.

Shops closed to non-members of unions.

No taxation nor accounting of dues collected to pay union representatives.

Union organizations and racketeers are not regulated by the Government.

Volunteer And Drafted Soldiers And Sailors

Wages are fixed and low.

Lives are risked and jobs surrendered.

Serve on duty twenty four hours a day, every day, and deserters are court martialled.

Personal desires are subordinated to discipline.

LOOKING AT LIFE

— By Erich Brandeis

Coe Glade, Douglas Beattie and Jan Kiepura are three high priced stars of the Chicago Opera Company.

I don't know what their salaries are, but I guess they run into four figures a week for each of them.

The Salvation Army asked the three to sing Christmas carols at one of Chicago's downtown street corners, the money collected to be used for feeding needy people at Christmas.

So the three stars went to the corner of State and Randolph streets, one of the city's busiest spots, and they sang in their very best voices.

They sang for ten minutes—first, "Silent Night," then "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful," and a few other numbers.

Thousands heard them. Thousands passed by. Thousands stood still to listen.

But contributions were scarce and small. At the end of the concert exactly $2.00 had been dropped into the tambourine, exactly $2.00 in pennies and nickels and dimes.

The three singers couldn't understand the fiasco. Many of those who passed had paid ten dollars to hear them at the opera.

"They knew who you were when they went to the opera," they were told.

"But aren't our voices just as good?" they asked. "Didn't we sing just as well?"

Certainly you did.

But human nature is peculiar.

Many a painter, many a poet, many a musician has gone hungry until he made a name for himself.

Many a hundred-dollar piece of art couldn't be sold for fifty cents when the artist needed the money—but it brought a thousand dollars when by fame and wealth, the same artist had acquired indigestion.

I just paid forty cents for a small piece of pumpkin pie. I could have had a better piece across the street for a dime.

But I didn't kick. A famous movie star, a well known author and two notorious racketeers sat at the adjoining table.

Even a piece of pie can be made glamorous by the right surroundings.

Words Of Wisdom

Correspondent With U. S. Forces Tells Why Japs Will Not Win Victory

By RICHARD TREGASKIS
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH AMERICAN FLEET, In Southwest Pacific, Dec. 16.—One potent reason why the Japs will lose the war is that her fighting men are not equal to ours in intelligence or in training.

Secondly, indications are strong that the Japs are unequal to the job of supplying trained men as fast as we; that her replacements are falling farther and farther behind the dictates of necessity.

And perhaps most important, the Japs, despite their reputation for fanatical self sacrifice, are by no means superior to our fighting men in the important quality of courage.

On these three counts, America has a definite edge of superiority over the Japs; and that has been proved true in the major engagements of the Pacific war; particularly at Midway and on Guadalcanal.

Take the matter of courage, for instance; I was aboard an aircraft carrier, which was actively engaged in the fighting, during the battle of Midway. I talked to many of the fliers who came back from that fierce struggle.

They all told the same story: The Jap has a wonderful plane—(the Zero)—he is a good fighter; but notably, his reputation for the Hari-Kari type of courage is false; just false.

The Jap flier, they said, won't take you in a scissors; which is aviator talk for flying at you head on and shooting it out with you.

Furthermore, they said, if a Jap dive-bomber is making a "run" on a target, and you attack him, he won't keep on with his run; instead, he will pull out and try to fight you; he won't expose himself by continuing with his job.

Quickly Change

At Guadalcanal, I found the same things true of fliers. The Japs were arrogant enough at first, when things seemed to be going their way; later they learned quickly to be cowards.

Many a time on Guadalcanal, before our air support arrived at Henderson field, we sat defenseless and watched a long line of Jap Mitsubishi bombers swing over and drop their sticks. Our short-range anti-aircraft guns (since augmented by properly powerful weapons) ranged pitifully short of the foe.

Then, the Japs held formation, droned steadily on course, dropped their sticks carefully. But later, when we had our complement of fighters, tough little Grumman Wildcats, the story was different.

For a time, the Japs kept on, holding formation during their "run" as they had at first. Then they began to lose planes by the score.

After that, they learned the uses of timidity. Many a time, when their flights were well intercepted, the bombers turned off and jettisoned their bombs, rather than make the run and lose a large portion of their numbers.

No Super-Man

I saw a good deal of land-fighting on Guadalcanal which proved that the Jap, far from being a self-sacrificing superman, is only an ordinary mortal when met by determined and equal opposition.

At Tasimboko, when I went to that point of land with the raiders and we surprised the Jap defenders with an attack from the rear, I saw them run faster than the Italians, and in the same direction in which the Italians are wont to run. The Japs retreated so fast that they left two 37mm field pieces and four 75's unmanned. A few stayed behind to fire two remaining 75's at us, but that resistance was negligible.

I have seen captured Japs who made motions towards the center of their stomachs when taken prisoner, and said "knife" or "kill."

They were complying with the Jap tradition that death is better than the dishonor of being captured.

But when their captors made no move to kill the Japs or give them the instruments with which to kill themselves, the Japs did not seem dissatisfied. And they made no subsequent attempts to take their own lives; although self-imposed starvation of course always was available. In fact, the Jap prisoners thrived on our food—and many of us came to the conclusion that their death-before-dishonor pose was just that—merely a pose; a sort of religious formula that ties in with their ancestor worship. Since they had asked for death and that request been refused, they had then fulfilled their ogligations and were very content to go on living.

Some Exceptions

Of course, there were exceptions. Once, one of our patrols caught a Jap patrol to the east of Henderson field, and the Jap officer in charge rather than submit to capture, dispatched himself with his revolver.

On Tulagi, no Japs surrendered, and one group of three saved three bullets with which to take their own lives before capture; and they did kill themselves.

Many of the Jap snipers we met, also showed a vast amount of courage. They would tie themselves in trees at night, and sit there all day—even though they might be completely surrounded by our people—taking shots at our men. And some of the Jap machine gun units, when isolated, fought to the last man instead of trying to retire and save their skins. But I have seen them jump up and run for it, too, when they were surrounded and under heavy fire.

And there have been units on our side which, have acted in both of these ways; when isolated, some of our units have fought to the last man; others have run for it.

Some Cowards; Some Brave

No, people are people, everywhere; and the Japs are as various as we. Some of them are cowards and some are brave; with the vast bulk of them in the middle section between the extremes. And the Japs in general will learn to be afraid as quickly as, and sometimes more quickly than, the people of occidental races.

Of course, the Japs undeniably have some peculiar racial traits; cruelty, in my experience, is an outstanding one. I believe they are more cruel and more vindictive than we. But they are, like us, divisible by the common denominator of fear.

How do the Japs compare with us in intelligence? I believe they are definitely inferior.

Perhaps because of his conditioning in a totalitarian, Fascist country, the Jap soldier has a limited amount of initiative; and a definite follow-the-leader complex.

True, the trained Jap sniper can operate as a self-sustaining unit Indian fashion, for days; true, small groups of Japs can operate well and effectively as infiltration units when they are well trained and instructed—and when they meet the expected retreat on the part of our troops.

TINY JAP SUB SEEN

Los Angeles, Calif.
December 7, 1942.

The Editor,
New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.
Dear Sir:

On exhibition here today was the two-man sub captured at Pearl Harbor. It had been bombed from the air and thrown up on a coral reef by the explosion. Two Japs climbed out the turret and started to swim ashore. The mechanic was drowned on the way, but the Marines captured the captain, who had taken off his uniform rather than be captured with it on.

He requested the privilege of committing hara-kiri, but the Marines said "nothing doing," so he was taken prisoner.

The sub is about 80 feet long and just big enough for a little Jap to stand up in the middle. It is run by storage batteries. Two torpedoes were in it and enough dynamite to blow up an enemy ship and themselves in case the torpedoes failed.

Thousands bought war bonds and stamps here to see it.

Yours truly,
Claude Allen.

PLENTY OF POOCHES

Seems as though the dog population is increasing in Lawrence county, or else more folks are tagging their pooches. The total number of dog licenses sold this year through the office of County Treasurer Earl R. Wimer was 9,629 as of Saturday at noon. This is an increase over 1941, when 9,297 licenses were sold.

Several years ago the number of licenses was below 8,000. Some increase is probably due to the fact that prosecutions are made when a dog owner is found who has not licensed his dog.

Fabric breaks, good for eventual blow-outs, also showed up. Now service stations are installing X-ray, which is cheaper and better than demounting tires and inspecting them by sight and feel.

recruited and are fully entitled to have the lads get down to a diet of what THEIR sex dictates.

I've noticed this tendency conspicuously at the National Press club, where the two groups commingle noticeably. The boys are almightly sociable, but they certainly do poohpooh eggnog. The gals are thoroughly friendly, but they don't turn down candy boxes.

This War's Different

There's a difference between this war and the last one, in Washington.

That time certain allowances were made for Germany. This time—not a drop of it!

In those days Kaiser Bill was regarded as something of a prohibition factor.

Today Fuehrer Hitler is assessed as a pest, as a prohibition influence. Adolf would like to have us quit drinking, to help HIM.

Kaiser Bill didn't see it from that angle. He was willing to have us go on drinking up suds, indefinitely. It wasn't economic from Bill's viewpoint. It IS, from Adolf's.

It was OUR problem, in Bill's day. Now it's ADOLF'S.

Are we going to be bossed by Herr Hitler?

Adolf wants us to quit drinking. It isn't quite an exclusively local proposition? It's for the benefit of Hitlerianism? If we over-drink, we over-drink Hitlerianly—as Adolf figures it.

Elmer Davis, once critical, now reproves others for criticizing. You get a more tolerant view from the inside.

During the business session the members were informed of the loyalty luncheon in New Castle in January.

Delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hazel McCracken, Mrs. Jennie Walton and Jessie Joan McCracken.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. S. J. Hunt on Thursday evening, Jan. 14, at eight o'clock.

FIGHTING FITZES

(International News Service)

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Pvt. Robert Fitzsimmons, second cousin and namesake of the man who won the world's heavyweight championship from James J. Corbett, recently completed his basic training at the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command's Basic Training Command, Miami Beach, Fla. He hopes the fortunes of war will take him to New Zealand, where most of the Fitzsimmons clan have long been in the service of the United Nations.

Young Fitzsimmons born on the Island of Timaru in West New Zealand was a shipyard worker in Baltimore when he enlisted.

HEADED FOR HOME

(International News Service)

LONDON—Now enroute home for new service on a new war-front is Corporal R. E. Reed of Tampa, Fla., a member of the U. S. Marine detachment in London.

He was stationed here for fifteen months and his service included ARP duty during heavy air-raids and training with the British Commandos. Easily biggest thrill before leaving was when he changed pounds and shillings into American currency. "This is for ice-cream sodas and hamburgers as soon as I get back," was his comment as he displayed a ten dollar bill.

We also need unified reports. When British and Americans both tell what they did, it sounds like two victories.

Some Surprises Are Promised Enemies Of U. S.

(International News Service)

RANDOLPH FIELD, Tex., Dec. 14—Hitler and Hirohito today were promised an early demonstration of America's "secret" aerial weapons and new air battleships already in production.

The promise was made by Lt. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the U. S. Army Air Forces, who declared America has a "secret weapon or two that will deal paralyzing blows to our enemies."

He told the graduating classes of army flying schools at Randolph, Kelly, Brooks and Hondo fields, that the four-motored B-17 Flying Fortresses and Consolidated B-24 Liberators are the "last of the 'small' bombers".

Promising that the raid on Tokyo would be repeated many times before the war's end, General Arnold said:

"We have a secret weapon or two up our aerial sleeves that will deal paralyzing blows to our enemies. Our fighters and bombers are steadily increasing in range, speed, firepower and bomb loads.

"I will also state that entirely new battlewagons are on the way. We'll soon put on a special demonstration for Hitler and Hirohito—we don't think they are going to like it either."

JAPANESE FAIL IN NEW ATTEMPTS AT GUADALCANAL

ships now are "guarding" Guadalcanal to prevent the Japanese from slipping reinnforcements into the island.

An American task force was on hand to intercept the part of the enemy flotilla which escaped the dusk air attack. Shortly after midnight, the American naval vessels blasted the remaining Jap warships, sinking one destroyer, setting another on fire and damaging a third. The navy admitted the loss of one torpedo boat.

Meanwhile, army Flying Fortress bombers raided the enemy airfield at Munda in the continuing offensive designed to prevent the Japanese from using it to attack the U. S. field on Guadalcanal.

"On the morning of Dec. 11 army 'Flying Fortresses' (Boeing B-17) dropped 155 100-pound bombs on the Jauanese airfield at Munda on New Georgia island," the navy said. "Clouds prevented observation of results. All of our planes returned.

"On the morning of Dec. 12 seven 'Flying Fortresses' escorted by Grumman 'Wildcat' fighters scored four 1,000-pound bomb hits on the landing strip at Munda and dropped 80 100-pound bombs in the general area. All of our planes returned."

Army bombers also were busy in the north Pacific, where they have been attempting to break the Japanese toe-hold on the island of Kirka in the western Aleutians.

"On Dec. 11 three army 'Marauders' (Martin B-26) scored two 500-pound hits on a vessel formerly aground in Trout lagoon on the island of Kiska and bombed and strafed shore installations," the navy said.

VICTORY LOAN FUND WORKERS MAKE REPORTS

of Johnson Bronze Co., and one of the leaders of the drive's Tank Corps division.

Sailor is Interviewed

But the feature talk was brought by 20-year-old Jack Thomas Lipp, electrician's mate third class, home on furlough until December 30 after his harrowing battle experience with the Japs aboard the U. S. S. Boise, the warship which gave the yellow guys a taste of American courage in the South Pacific on the night of October 11-12.

Sailor Lipp, the son of Mr. and Fred Lipp, of 710 Wilmington avenue, came to the report meeting to briefly relate his experiences and be interview by Chief Shipfitter D. C. Ritchie, in charge of the navy recruiting office in the Post Office building.

Recruiter Ritchie, who signed Lipp up here, recalled how he failed to pass his navy tests at Pittsburgh upon enlistment, but returned time and again to demonstrate to the navy men that he had the fighting spirit the sea forces require of recruits.

Lipp Sounds Keynote

Young Lipp sounded the keynote of the rousing morning session when he told Recruiter Ritchie, in response to his question about the reactions to it all:

"Well, battle action isn't any fun, but somebody has to do it!"

Lipp spoke the sentence softly, but the mighty significance of it all seemed to thunder through the vast Cathedral auditorium.

Chairman Louis B. Round, who presided today, immediately took it up as the theme for the big bond drive. So did President Flaherty of Johnson Bronze when he addressed the crowd on the importance of winning public support for the drive.

"It Can Be Done"

Flaherty's own topic was "It Can Be Done." He declared the $5,400,000 would be raised before Christmas by Lawrence county citizens, and recalled that the public here had furnished advance proof of the successful United War Fund campaign.

Flaherty announced again the newspaper Victory Loan advertising campaign of New Castle manufacturers, which opened in Saturday's issue of The News.

He said every plant has joined to support it in the hopes of conveying the drive's importance to the general public and the men in the plants.

He said the success of the nation-wide nine billion dollar bond drive will mean (1) that our cost of living will be held down and (2) that this government, in the most destructive and costliest war ever to plague mankind, will be kept, sound.

Band On Platform

Martial music for the morning rally was furnished by a section of the Senior high school band, playing under the leadership of Joseph F. Replogle, the director.

Dr. G. S. Bennett of First Christian church offered up the invocation. The audience sang "The Star Spangled Banner" at the close.

Chairman Round said the date for the next report assemblage will be announced in The News.

Tells How Admiral Lost Life

Commander Bruce McCandless (right), with his head bowed, tells Mrs. J. J. Raby, aunt of the late Rear Admiral Daniel Callaghan, and C. W. Cassin Young were killed. The San Francisco sank a Jap battleship, a cruiser, and destroyer. The trio was photographed in San Francisco when the cruiser returned for repairs. BRITISH PURSUE FLEEING ROMMEL TOWARD TRIPOLI treated under a hail of bullets and bombs from Allied fighter bombers "operating on an unprecedented scale" toward the port of Tripoli some 460 miles to the west.

Retreat Continues

(The enemy continued in full retreat at noon today, Reuter reported in a dispatch from the front. No major engagement had yet developed in Tripolitania, the message said, but Allied fighters and bombers were pounding the fleeing Axis troops.

(Rommel withdrew, Reuter's correspondent declared, because Allied forces operating to the south outflanked his defenses and made his position at El Aghella untenable. Yesterday's dawn to dusk fighter and bomber attacks on the withdrawing enemy registered a record number of sorties in any theater of the war, the dispatch concluded.)

An official announcement early today disclosed that Rommel had been forced to withdraw in the face of concerted thrusts by British Gen Sir Bernard L. Montgomery.

A subsequent communique revealed that the latest flight of Axis forces smashed back out of Egypt and driven half way across Libya began after the British turned Rommel out of his strong points at Mersa Brega, less than 30 miles northeast of El Aghella on the Gulf of Sidra.

Blast Rommel Out

Blasting Rommel from his defense positions was affected at little cost to the attacking British, the announcement from headquarters of Gen. Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander said.

"Allied fighter-bombers, operating on an unprecedented scale, were employed to harass the enemy," the communique stated.

"Axis air activity was totally ineffective in preventing these operations. In the few instances when German fighters attempted to interfere they were successfully engaged and six were shot down."

The communique reported new heavy raids by Allied medium bombers of the port of Palermo, Sicily, and the port of Sousse on the east coast of Tunisia. Four Allied aircraft are missing as a result of these attacks which were described as successful.

Rommel undertook his new withdrawal toward Tripoli after fearing the consequences of attempting to make a new stand at El Aghella against the formidable might of the Eighth Army.

The Nazi commander's departure from El Aghella leaves the Axis no readily defensible positions between that point and Tripoli. It was thought that he might make a stand at Misurata Harbor but it was believed unlikely that any such action would be of a serious character.

Remnants of the shattered Axis desert army were driven from strong points at El Aghella by concerted blasts of British artillery and Allied air forces.

(The German-controlled Paris radio stated that news received during the night "indicates the battle of El Aghella is continuing fiercely.")

An official statement by the Middle East high command said that Gen. Rommel's forces were retiring westward along the coastal road after being turned out of fortifications at El Aghella.

The new retreat, following Rommel's headlong flight out of Egypt and down beyond the Libyan hump to the Gulf of Sidra, was forced after Axis units became unnerved by constant stabs by mechanized British patrols and heavy bombardments over the battle area by Allied planes.

The advance by Gen. Montgomery's Eighth Army cut down the length of the North African coast still in Axis hands to a distance of some 340 miles.

WAAC Who Did Strip-Tease Act Ousted From Corps

(International News Service)

FORT DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 14—A member of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps who went A. W. O. L. to do a strip-tease act in a Des Moines burlesque show has been given a discharge "other than honorable," Col. John A. Hoag, WAAC commandant, announced today.

She is pretty, 22-year-old Kathryn Gregory of Fort Worth, Texas, who was billed as "Amber De Georg" at a Des Moines theater.

Her discharge was recommended by a board of three WAAC third officers who submitted their findings to WAAC headquarters in Washington.

Approval of the discharge was received from Washington Saturday, according to Colonel Hoag.

At the burlesque, the ex-WAAC interpreted the dances of Samoa and the strip tease of Hollywood. She was picked up at the theater by WAACS and taken to Fort Des Moines, where she remained pending the board's findings.

ALLIES PREPARING FOR FINAL ATTACK ON JAPS AT BUNA

westward from Gona, now securely in the hands of General Douglas MacArthur's jungle fighters.

Throughout the battle zone Allied fighters and bombers blasted Jap positions, machine gun nests and anti-aircraft gun emplacements.

An indication that Japan, desperate to relieve its battered Buna garrison, has thrown inexperienced pilots into the fray was seen in General MacArthur's announcement that an Allied reconnaissance plane shot down two Jap fighters over the battlefields.

Blast Installations

Other planes of the southwest Pacific bomber command ranged against the Jap supply base of Salamaua, to the north, blasting installations there, a communique said.

All official announcements and field dispatches said that Allied troops before Buna were concentrating on knocking out Japanese defenses before the final push to capture the slim beachhead is launched.

Heavy artillery and mortar fire and bombing and strafing from the air have been destroying strategically located Jap machine gun nests and batteries at Buna and Buna Mission, a few miles to the west.

Cut off from each other by an Allied column that broke through to reach the sea, the two Japanese garrisons at Buna and Buna Mission were fighting as independent units, desperately attempting to escape annihilation by sporadic counter-attacks.

Their retreat is cut off from the three land sides, and only the open sea is at their backs.

The renewed bombardment of Jap positions at Buna followed a day of tropical rain that reduced all operations to a minimum. Despite the weather, however, heavy and medium Allied bombers roared against Lae and Salamaua, Jap base in northeast New Guinea.

Large fires were started at the Salamaua airdrome Saturday, while enemy aircraft at a dispersal area on the Lae airfield were shot up.

Big Crowd Sees Plaque Placed In Ryantown

Ceremony Honoring More Than Four Score Service Men Conducted

Old Glory was raised and a beautiful plaque, containing the names of more than four score boys from the Second precinct of the Sixth ward, commonly known as Ryantown, was dedicated Sunday afternoon. Because of the non-arrival of the service flag it could not be raised. However, it will be as soon as possible after its arrival. The plaque was placed at Sampson and Grant streets. A big crowd witnessed the ceremony.

The invocation was pronounced by Rev. Gamble. Chief Air Raid Warden Frank Sargent said the funds for the plaque containing the names of the service boys and the flag, were contributed by persons in the district. City OCD Director D. O. Davies made appropriate remarks and T. J. Stoner, commander V. F. W. Post, No. 315 and post commander of the district made an appropriate address.

Long Vacation For Collegians

Westminster Students Leave On Tuesday—Return On January 7

NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 14—Classes for the year will end tomorrow for Westminster college students who will leave here for their annual Christmas vacation. The holiday recess will begin officially at 4:30 tomorrow afternoon, and end at 8 a. m. Thursday, January 7.

Students will leave earlier and return later than usual this year at the request of government officials so that transportation facilities may be open to service men. In order to make up class work, Westminster students worked right thru their customary Thanksgiving vacation.

College officials have urged students to take jobs in stores and industry to help fill the need for workers during the Christmas rush period.

An all-college Christmas party will be held at Ferguson hall here tomorrow evening. Activities for the afternoon and evening include a special Christmas dinner in all dining halls, carol singing and a dance.

Commencement At Westminster On January 26

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 14—For the first time in the history of Westminster college a graduation service will be held for those students graduating at mid-year. Commencement exercises will be in the Wallace Memorial chapel here on Tuesday, January 26. As yet, no speaker has been named.

Baccalaureate ceremonies will be held in the chapel on Sunday, January 24, with Dr Robert F. Galbreath, Westminster president, officiating.

Because of acceleration of courses due to the war, approximately 25 students expect to graduate at mid-year.

General Reilly To Speak Tuesday

World War General Will Discuss America's Grand Strategy In Current War

GEN. HENRY J. REILLY

New Castle folks who are fortunate in belonging to the New Castle Executives club will learn about the inside of war, what makes the wheels go around and what leads up to victories at the monthly dinner meeting Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock in The Castleton. The speaker on this occasion will be Brigadier General Henry J. Reilly, one of the nation's top-ranking military analysts.

He is one of the country's outstanding authorities on military strategy, army training and preparation. In recent months General Reilly has met the unprecedented request of the United States army in calling upon an officer not on active duty to address its field artillery, cavalry and infantry officers, the general staff officers at Fort Leavenworth and both the officers and cadets at West Point Military Academy.

He was to have appeared here last month, but because of these other engagements, his appearance had to be postponed for a month.

His subject will be "America's Grand Strategy in the War".

Sunday School Express Solves One Problem

NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 14—Latest local solution to transportation difficulties is the "Sunday School Express," owned and operated by five Westminster college faculty members. This unique transport carries approximately seven passengers to Sunday school every Sunday morning.

The children of Profs. Walter Biberich, Donald Cameron, T. V. Mansell, W. L. Reuter and Dean M. R. Kelso are the passengers who are driven to church by each professor in turn. The only trouble with the system was that once in a while someone forgot when his turn came and caused a mix-up.

Walter Biberich, professor of German, got tired of three or four absent-minded professors honking in front of his house every Sunday mroning so he made out a schedule and sent postcards to the others. Now everyone knows when his turn is, and the system works perfectly.

Copperless Penny To Be Ready Soon

Push Production Plans For New Coin As Bill Awaits President's Signature

By A. Z. ROSENFELD

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14—The kiddies savings banks will jingle with a different sound in a couple of months when the government turns out its new copper-less penny.

Plans for production of the new one cent piece were being pushed today by U. S. mint officials as an act of legalizing new small coins awaited President Roosevelt's signature.

A critical penny shortage was caused by the recent stoppage of coining one-cent pieces with war-vital copper and the government appealed to children to turn in the contents of their penny banks.

Now, all copper pennies in circulation are going to be reclaimed for their vital metal and the coins will be replaced with zinc coated steel substitutes.

Treasury department officials said they hoped to get the new penny into production in from one to two months. "Honest Abe" Lincoln will still grace the new war coin. Strips of zinc-coated steel will be fed to machines and pennies bearing the same design as the present ones will be stamped out.

Steel pennies were decided upon after many months of study. Glass and several types of plastics were tried out, but plastic was ruled to be too scarce and glass would have required new machinery.

LOCAL CONSISTORY MEMBER IS BURIED

Funeral services were conducted from the home in Appollo, Pa., Saturday afternoon for John E. Hall aged 72 years, retired steel worker, who died at his home, Wednesday. He was a member of the Valley of New Castle Consistory.

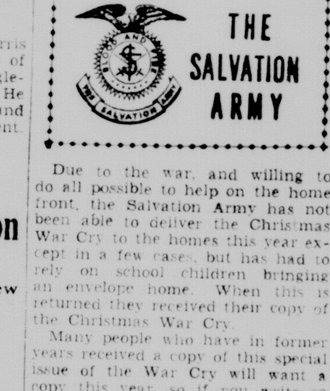
THE SALVATION ARMY

Due to the war, and willing to do all possible to help on the home front, the Salvation Army has not been able to deliver the Christmas War Cry to the homes this year except in a few cases, but has had to rely on school children bringing an envelope home. When this is returned they received their copy of the Christmas War Cry.

Many people who have in former years received a copy of this special issue of the War Cry will want a copy this year, so if you write to the Salvation Army, 120 North Jefferson street, we will be glad to see that one reaches you as soon as possible.

The envelopes have only been distributed in the larger of the county schools and none have been given out in the city of New Castle. They have also been given out in the Ellwood City schools.



DO THIS! To relieve discomforts, one of the best things you can do is put a good spoonful of home-tested Vicks VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water.

Then feel the wonderful relief come as you breathe in the steaming medicated vapors that penetrate to the cold-congested upper breathing passages! See how this soothes irritation, quiets coughing, and helps clear the head—bringing grand comfort.

FOR ADDED RELIEF . . . rub throat, chest and back with VapoRub at bedtime. Vicks VapoRub works for hours—2 ways at once—to bring relief from distress. Remember—it's Vicks VapoRub you want.

New Airfields Under Attack

American Bombers Concentrate On Newly Constructed Jap Plane Bases

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—With American surfaces forces in control of the waters around Guadalcanal, U. S. airmen are continuing their drive to knock out the newly constructed Japanese airfield in the central Solomons, the navy disclosed today.

In a brief communique, the navy stated that latest ground action on Guadalcanal has been limited to routine patrol activity and that a lone enemy plane dropped three bombs in the vicinity of the U. S. airfield on Dec. 13.

"U. S. planes continued bombing attacks on enemy installations and airfield at Munda," the communique added.

This action came shortly after American planes and warships smashed another Japanese attempt to reinforce their isolated Guadalcanal garrison.

In two separate engagements, dive bombers, supported by Airacobra fighters attacked 11 Japanese destroyers headed for Guadalcanal and scored bomb hits on five of the enemy vessels.

The following night, U. S. surface forces attacked the remnants of the Jap flotilla, sinking one destroyer, setting another on fire and damaging a third.

During the same period, army Flying Fortress bombers struck hard at the recently completed Jap airfield on New Georgia island, about 150 miles northwest of Guadalcanal.

During the Saturday and Sunday period police were active gathering in drunks who couldn't make their way home or who stopped drinking long enough to abuse someone verbally or physically.

He's a Citizen Now

Russian-born Nathan Milstein, violin virtuoso, rushed from Chicago, where he gave a recital, to Brattleboro, Vt., to receive his final American citizenship papers, then left directly for New York City where he gave his first recital of the season. Milstein first came to this country in 1929, one of the "Three Russian Musketeers" of music who have gained fame because of their musical genius—Vladimir Horowitz and Gregor Piatigorsky are the other two. Now all three are full-fledged Americans.

OPA Grants Price Rise To 16 Foods

Cost Of Food Shows 40 Per Cent Rise Above 1939; Banana Price Lower

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Sixteen more items on the food list were selling at higher prices under OPA permission today as the cost of food showed a 40 per cent rise above 1939.

The OPA authorized retail price increases on the additional items to compensate increases previously granted to wholesalers, "to reflect only actual higher costs in raw material and labor," and to cover increased costs of new type containers replacing war-scarce tin cans.

The items are canned apples, applesauce, apple juice, vinegar-cured herring, canned boned chicken and turkey, maple sugar, blended maple syrup, fountain fruits, egg noodles, tamales, tortillas, potato chips, raisin filled or topped biscuits and crackers, fig bars, peanut candy and extracted honey.

At the same time, the OPA fixed wholesale ceilings slightly below current wholesale prices on bunch bananas, and said that some retail banana prices will be slightly cut in a later order.

The Labor department reported, meanwhile, that the cost of food was still gradually rising, the increase for the month ended Nov. 17 totalling 1.2 per cent.

On that date, the general food price level reached a stage nearly 40 per cent above that preceding the outbreak of war in Europe, and 16 per cent above that of a year ago. With meat growing harder to buy, vegetable and fish prices rose 3.6 per cent in November.

O.P.A. Gives Information On Gas Rationing Books

(Special To The News)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—As a result of the numerous inquiries at local rationing boards and the Pittsburgh district headquarters for the Office of Price Administration for information of varied nature regarding the mileage rationing program and the proper use of the gasoline rationing books, the Office of War Information is releasing the following.

Basic "A" books. This book contains eight coupons to a page, each coupon valued at three gallons of gasoline. The first page to be used contains coupons marked 3. These are valid for two months, to be used partially or all at one time, for a period ending midnight January 21.

"B" or "C" books. The holders of "B" or C" books have been entitled to supplemental rations and may use these extra rations along with their basic "A" books. These books are tailored to individual needs and the expiration date is marked on the cover of the coupon book. Each unit or coupon is worth four gallons of gasoline. These coupons must be used within the date marked.

Renewals for "B" or "C" books should be made by application to the local rationing board 30 days before the expiration date.

Appeals on the action taken by local boards in connection with supplemental rationing allotments are taken by filing a special form available at the board headquarters. This form is known as R-122 and must be filed in duplicate with the local board.

Gasoline station owners must see that each ration coupon turned in to them has the license number and state of the car owner, and that that number corresponds with the license number of the car into which he puts the gasoline. This number should be written on the ration coupon in ink or indelible pencil.

"T" books contain coupons marked either "T-1" or "T-2". Each "T" coupon is worth five gallons of gasoline and may be used within a four-month period. The license number and state or the number of the certificate of war necessity issued to the truck owner must be marked on the back of the "T" coupons.

"T" coupons are NOT to be used by passenger car owners nor is a gasoline dealer permitted to accept a "T" coupon for gasoline to be used in a passenger car unless this vehicle is a common carrier and registered with the Office of Defense Transportation and carries a certificate of war necessity, signifying that they are common carriers.

NAZI PRODUCTION BOASTS HELD LIES

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The Moscow radio in a broadcast to the Soviet Union said Saturday that the Nazis' boasts of production successes in occupied Russian territory were lies, because all factory and mine equipment had been evacuated or made "completely unusable" by the Russians. Health Talks

SUSIE STARTS SCRATCHING

About this time of the year Susie comes home from school with livestock in her hair. For several days she has been scratching rather vigorously, but no one paid much attention. Finally Susie is rushed to the doctor and for a few days things are going on at Susie's home.

Perhaps it would be O. K. to discuss the problem. There are three kinds of lice: head lice, body lice and crab lice. The head louse stays in the hair all the time. She lays her egg on a hair and glues it on tight. The egg and glue and all is called a nit. It is glued on so fast that you cannot get it off. In a few days the egg hatches and the baby louse starts going places. The head louse seems to like little girls the best.

A good way to get rid of head lice is to fine comb the head. Then soak the hair in kerosene and put on a stocking cap or a bandana and leave it on for a few hours. Then wash it out with lots of soap. Then go through the same process, using vinegar instead of kerosene. The kerosene kills the lice and the vinegar loosens the nits.

Now wait a few days and go through the same process all over again. In a week or two Susie will be O. K. unless she gets more from some of her friends.

Body lice are larger than head lice, but have six legs, same as the others. They like older people better and do not get into the scalp. They travel around the shoulders and breast mostly. They cause a lot of scratching. They get in the seams of clothing and lay their eggs in them. By searching the seams and folds you can find both lice and eggs. To get rid of body lice you must kill them by heat. Boil the clothes or bake them in the oven or press them with a hot iron. Then sprinkle sulphur in the seams and on your body, too. Goodbye louse.

Crab lice are still another variety. They have two sets of legs with hooks on them. The cure for crabs is to take a hot, soapy bath when you get out of jail.

A good book to read is "Rats, Lice and History", by Dr. Zinnser.

The ancient Egyptians and Greeks fashioned sandals from leather with tools not unlike those used by the hand shoe-maker today.

FASCIST MAGAZINE CRITICIZES NAZIS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Further evidence of a rift in the Rome-Berlin Axis was reported Saturday by the British radio in an account of an article in the Milan Fascist monthly which sharply criticized the Nazis' disrespect for Christian civilization and their "arrogant policy toward conquered peoples". The article was signed by Professor Ascanio, an Italian senator, according to the BBC broadcast, which was heard in New York by the Office of War Information monitors.

State Digging Out Of First Blizzard Of Season

Seven Dead In Wake Of Storm

Six Inch Snow Fall Is Reported In Parts Of Pennsylvania

TRAFFIC BADLY HAMPERED SUNDAY

(International News Service)

Pennsylvania was digging out of its initial blizzard of the winter today while numbering at lease seven dead and six injured in the wake of the storm.

In western Pennsylvania, where snow fell to a depth of almost six inches, near-zero cold gripped citizens, while traffic, slowed by gasoline rationing, went wild on icy streets.

Three Are Killed

At Uniontown, Fayette county, three were killed in hit-and-run accidents and at least six others were injured in collisions caused by skidding.

The dead were Mrs. Ruby Rush, Mrs. Eva Los and her estranged husband, Joe Costello, all of Uniontown. All three died of broken necks. A fourth hit-and-run fatality occurred at Dembo, Washington county, where Joseph Schofield, of Dembo, was struck by a machine.

Three other deaths were recorded in Pittsburgh, where Ignatz Backilus, 78, died of exposure; deckhand Milford Jones slipped on the icy deck of the Ohio river towboat "Sam Craig" and was drowned, and Charles Fisher, 52, collapsed and died immediately while sweeping snow from his sidewalks.

To Continue Cold

While tragedy already had struck as a result of the weather, no relief was in sight. The U. S. weather bureau predicted continued subfreezing temperatures and intermittent snowfalls.

The foothills and mountains in central and northwestern Pennsylvania recorded deep snows. Johnstown, Somerset, Clearfield, Butler and other communities reported heavy snows and icy weather.

In eastern Pennsylvania a mixture of snow, rain, wind and subfreezing temperatures hampered motor and river traffic.

Nine persons were injured in a two-car head-on collision on the Delaware river bridge. An ice-jammed trolley switch was blamed for the freak accident in which a car jumped the tracks, knocked over two gasoline pumps and crashed into a building. No one was injured.

Sub-normal temperatures prevailed in the Harrisburg area over the week-end in the wake of the heaviest snowfall of the season. From a high of seven degrees above normal Saturday at midnight, the mercury fell steadily to below freezing levels.

Thin sheets of ice covered the highways until noon yesterday, when the mid-day thaw made road traffic almost normal. A drop in temperature toward evening, however, re-covered the roads with ice to make driving hazardous. Intermittent snows brought out cinder crews to protect the more dangerous areas.

Snowfall in eastern Pennsylvania ranged from one inch in Harrisburg to four inches in Scranton.

Snow Owls Should Not Be Molested

Owen Fox, City Forester, Explains Bird's Presence In This District

Owen Fox, city forester, recently received a call from a bird lover of the city that he had seen a large snow owl.

Mr. Fox desires to request that if anyone come upon this bird in this district it should not be molested.

The snow owl is rarely seen in this location, and only visits us when the going gets tough for it in its Arctic home.

It feeds on lemmings, creatures of the mole family, and is not a game killer like some of the hawk family.

The greater part of the snow owls that stray from the Arctic regions to our temperate zone seldom live to return to their frigid home, many of them having been mistakenly killed.

On their travels, states Mr. Fox, these birds have been seen perched on ships, hundreds of miles out at sea, this because they have been blown off their course and alight on ships for a rest. Another reason that these birds are rare is that when hatching and raising their young they will not leave their nest or desert their young in that season and can easily be destroyed by their enemies.

One Day Remains To Be Registered For Ration Book 1

One day remains for consumers who have not registered for War Ration Book 1, to register with the rationing board here and thus be enabled to get Ration Book 2 which will be in use before long. War Ration Book 1 is the book upon which you get sugar and coffeee.

Persons who did not register because they had a supply of sugar on hand are reqiured to register now and thus be able to get the second book. Persons who registered but were not given books because of a sugar supply are also required to register.

Consumers may register in the Aiken School building.

Dieppe Raiders Plucked Apples From The Trees

(International News Service)

CHICAGO. — A new wrinkle to the cool courage and resourcefulness with which Americans took part in the Commando raid on Dieppe was added today by Mrs. Wilfred Jessop of Chicago.

Mrs. Jessop is the wife of a lieutenant in the Royal Navy and while in London recently she was hostess to many Yanks who returned from the great raid on the French coast.

"During the Dieppe raid, some of the soldiers told me, they were running through a fruit orchard," she said. "Snipers could not stop them. They plucked apples from the trees and ate them as they returned hellish fire."

"Continue College Plans" Is Advice

Penn State Conference Reveals Confusion Of Students About War, Education

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 14.—"Continue the educational plans you made for yourself before the 18-year-old Selective Service Act went into effect, until you are actually called for service," students at the Pennsylvania State College have been urged by faculty members participating in a faculty-student panel on the outlook for students at Penn State and at other colleges.

Discussions of student members of the panel revealed how confused and disorganized many students have become because of the imminence of service in the armed forces. For many of them induction will break into plans for the completion of a college education which they and their parents have cherished for many years.

Many students, it was indicated, have become especially disturbed about the worth of the particular program they elected to follow before the war started. In this respect, their confusion has been heightened by the insistent demand by war industries for technically trained personnel and the attitude of the War and Navy departments toward liberal arts subjects. They were reminded that no matter how long the war lasted, eventually there would come another time of peace and that values might shift again in their emphasis.

The faculty members on the panel pointed out that the great dearth of technically trained personnel at present did not imply that a student who had spent several years in one field of study could necessarily switch on the spur of the moment to another field of study, particularly in technical areas, and thereby increase his usefulness to the war effort. Talents and abilities vary so much, that these must necessarily be weighed in reaching a decision as to whether or not a shift is advisable.

The faculty members who participated in the discussions were Adrian O. Morse, assistant to President Ralph D. Hetzel, in charge of resident instruction; Dean H. P. Hammond, of the School of Engineering; and Captain S. Bruce Gillard, of the Department of Military Science and Tactics.

Dairy Products Rationing May Precede Meats

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—A possibility that dairy products may precede meat on the rationing list arose today as one high official asserted that OPA had never officially committed itself to a date for the meat program or listed it as the first commodity to be handled under the new "point rationing" system.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson disclosed at a press conference that his agency has "one or two more" major rationing programs coming up. The new eight-page, 192-coupon "point rationing" book now being printed will enable the OPA to take care of two additional programs.

An official, who declined to be quoted, asserted, however, that it would be unwise to launch two programs at the same time until the nation's housewives become familiar with the intricacies of the "point rationing" system.

He also disclosed that delays in printing the millions of coupon books, forms and other material necessary for "point rationing" will prevent distribution of the books the latter part of this month and institution of another rationing program in January.

HUMAN ODDITY

In Los Angeles, there is a woman who parades daily on a downtown street, pulling a boy's express wagon, with more beads on her than you'll count on a glass of champagne and who carries a purse with a dozen padlocks on the hasp. She alternates her hats between the army, navy and marine corps.

KEEPING DOG COOL

An ice bag, or a towel soaked in cold water, helps bring down the temperature of an uncomfortably hot dog, and the same humane result is achieved by giving the panting animal an occasional dose of sweet spirits of ammonia dissolved in water.

Waste Of Public Funds Labor And Materials Charged By Martin

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 14.—Charges of waste of public funds, labor and materials needed in the nation's war effort have been leveled at the federal government by governor-elect Edward Martin.

He resumed pre-inaugural duties at the state capitol today after telling the Pennsylvania Society at New York Saturday night that "wasted dollars, wasted effort, wasted materials and wasted manpower are indefensible."

Emphasizing that military decisions must be left to President Roosevelt and his military advisers, the governor-elect asserted that citizens "have a right to protest against the wanton waste of money, food and manpower."

"We are told we lack manpower," he said. "Yet, on August 1, according to the Civil Service commission, the federal government had 2,606,300 people on its civilian payroll and was increasing that payroll at the rate of 100,000 a month."

Chief Hoarder

He charged that the government "is the chief hoarder of labor and the worst waster of manpower" because it employs more than 3,000,000 civilian employes. "Remove 1,000,000 of these workers from the federal payrolls, send them back to industry, and government efficiency will, in fact, increase," he asserted.

"We are wasting too much money," Martin continued. "The federal civilian payroll has been increasing at the rate of $16,000,000 a month."

"In the first World war, the people were asked to discipline themselves," he said "to participate in the necessary controls—and they accepted that responsibility. But in this war there is an investigator at every window and a snooper at every door."

Could Lessen Shortage

The acute manpower shortage could be greatly lessened, he stated, by paring "hundreds of thousands of younger workers" from federal, state and local government payrolls. He pointed out that despite the lack of manpower, America still has the shortest work week of any of the Allied Nations.

"And we are still restricting food production, hampering industry, destroying small business and pouring out our revenues in non-war expenditures," Martin asserted. "At a time when every dollar is needed for war, our social experiments go on and on, while we are fighting to survive."

"Our multiplied and swollen federal agencies are sucking the life blood out of a nation fighting for its very life," he added. "We are drowning in a sea of questionnaires and hounded by snoopers and "spotters" when we should be fighting the powers of darkness that threaten mankind everywhere in the world."

WPIAL Champions Honored At Fete

Close 250 Persons Gather For Event Saturday; Higgins Main Speaker

BRIDENBAUGH LAUDS FOOTBALLERS; SPIRIT

Scholastic football bowed out of the local picture Saturday night in George Washington junior high where close to 250 persons gathered to honor New Castle high's 1942 grid sons—rulers of the Class AA WPIAL dynasty.

Coach Bob Higgins, popular Penn State mentor, starred on the abbreviated speaking program. Instead of expounding on such worn out topics as courage, cooperation, sportsmanship, etc., Higgins reeled off one delightful story after another, striking an unusually happy chord.

Combination Grand

The Lions' coach listed Phil Bridenbaugh's coaching record as the finest in the nation and stressed the fact that "the player-coach combination in New Castle this year was grand".

A former All-American and foreman of the State college gridders for the past 15 years, the genial speaker emphasized the numerous bumps and curves encountered on the championship road. "It's tough to be champions. It's a much desired honor that is attained by few," Higgins said.

Miss Phyllis Pugh, who executed the arduous toastmastering job with rare cleverness, tossed the Higgins introductory into the lap of Coach Phil Bridenbaugh. The mentor minced no words in praising the main speaker. "He's capable and one of the best and most popular coaches in the land," Bridy said.

During his later talk, Bridenbaugh expressed gratitude to the girls' athletic club, the cheerleaders, the band, board of education, the men who transported the squad to the away games and the fans.

Assumes Blame

While it is water over the dam Bridenbaugh assumed the blame for the Sharon tie, admitting that the Mercer countians were underestimated. As for the Warren setback, he mentioned the fact that the team was forced to play in weather that was hardly fit for football.

"By defeating Washington and Mt. Lebanon, two of the best teams in the WPIAL in five nights, the boys proved that they were champs. In the Campbell game, Roussos' extra point kicking was a highlight," the grid chief asserted.

Regarding the Aliquippa victory which netted the league title, Bridenbaugh said:

"The boys played as perfectly offensively and defensively, as possible. I congratulate the squad. The boys were excellent. The spirit could not have been better—that's why they're champs. I want to express sincere thanks to the assistant coaches, Klee, Thomas, Cuba and Ralph Gardner."

Lee Speaks

Bob "General" Lee, who was elected honorary captain by his mates, proved an All-American as a speaker. The colored athlete, slightly jittery at first due to one of the most thunderous ovations ever accorded a local athlete, thanked his mates.

"The team was not a one-man team. We played as a team and that is the main reason why we are champions. I guess," he said in his customary modest way.

The versatile athlete then expressed his thanks to the coaches, the fans, Ralph Gardner, the press, radio and F. L. Orth, former principal of the high school, who was missing from the banquet due to illness.

Principal Clare Book congratulated the boys and remarked that "while you proved champs on the field, you will not be champions if you don't act as champs later on."

He then explained that he has been notified by local draft boards that Senior A's will be deferred until graduation, provided boys desiring deferment forward letters to the board. Book also made mention of the fact that boys who become 18 when school starts next fall will be deferred.

One of the highlights of the program was the showing of movies of the Aliquippa game by Attorney Joseph McFate, a member of the athletic council and one of the most devout followers of the 'Canes.

After Griffith Thomas, president of the school board, asked the blessing, an unusually tasty turkey dinner was served.

At the conclusion of the banquet program, dancing was in vogue.

Ideal Setting

The affair, sponsored by the girls' athletic club and the cheerleaders, was the last word in testimonials. The cafeteria was resplendent in extensive decorations. Footballs, trophies, photos of the athletes, archery equipment and other miniature athletic ornaments formed an ideal setting.

Dinner was provided by the athletic council.

Misses Margaret P. Fischer and Bernice E. Barlett were faculty advisors.

Titans Will Battle Allegheny Tuesday

Westminster Dribblers Seek Second Win On Crawford County Court

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 14—Successful in their opening game of the season, Westminster college's Towering Titans travel to Meadville Tuesday to meet Allegheny college in their first intercollegiate contest.

Recently, the Blue and White defeated an experienced Fraternal Order of Police quintet, champions of the Pittsburgh Municipal League, 43-31.

Frank O'Hara, Ford City senior and only tiny Titan on the squad, displayed outstanding versatility and aggressiveness as he led the locals in scoring, netting 13 points in three quarters of play.

Coach Grover Washabaugh was pleased with the first showing of his new Titan team and especially with freshman prospects who saw action for the first time.

The Dodgers obtained the right-hander by sending Allen and $30,000 to the lowly Phillies. Melton, 25, is married and father of two children. He won nine and lost 20 last season. Allen was obtained via the waiver juice in the middle of the '41 campaign from the Browns.

Washington Redskins defeated the Chicago Bears 14 to 6 at Washington to win the National Professional Football League title . . . Fritzie Zivic, former welterweight champion and Carmen Notch, his former sparring partner, clash Tuesday night in a 10-rounder in Pittsburgh. In one of the preliminaries, Russell Baxter, New Castle middleweight, fights Jack Burke of Brownsville, who appeared here several times as an amateur.

Frankie Ross and Paris Kid Cangie fought in the Opera house 22 years ago. Cangie won by a knockout. The writer (Ed. Fritz) was the third man in the ring. For the information of those who discussed the fight a few nights ago it might be said that it was one of the most vicious and exciting battles the writer ever refereed. Both were on the floor several times before Cangie delivered the "poison drop".

FAIR OR FOUL
By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 14—For the second time in baseball history it is impossible at this time of the year to look ahead to next season and come up with some kind of a line on the pennant races. The other time, of course, was during the last world war. Usually you can put your finger on the Yankees in the American league and dismiss the rest by commenting that one of them would have to get an assist from a miracle to finish in front.

The National league always has offered more of a problem, taxing the brain-power of experts. Far into many a winter's night they sought some one factor that would split the Dodgers and the Cardinals, or the Cardinals and Cubs or Reds and some of the rest. But that befuddlement centered mainly around just two clubs generally and three at the most in unusual circumstances.

Oh sure, others would be mentioned as possibilities "if that doesn't happen and if this does occur, and if the pitching holds up and the hitting doesn't bog down," but you could skin off all that foam and there would be just one or two or maybe three standouts.

For Next Season?

For next season? What for a time looked like a confused and utterly perplexing situation has had a relapse. The Philadelphia Athletics are being relined again by Connie Mack, who thinks his minor leaguers may make them a factor. The Philadelphia Phillies may get Bill Terry and be rejuvenated into a contender under his able if sometimes snarl-accompanied leadership.

Ordinarily, the realignment up of the already realigned Athletics and the merest suggestion that this could be important in the American league, would cause onlookers to get a seizure of hysteria.

I think I mentioned something along this broad general line once before, but it might have been taken as so much prattling and whether it is or isn't, it all is herewith repeated. This is no time for laughing at the A's and Phils or any other clubs in baseball. Most of them must seek their bolstering from the minors and the stronger clubs already have been cut down almost to a level with the weaker ones.

The Brooklyn Dodgers thought they had an ace in the hole in the 3-A classification of Pete Reiser, their leading hitter last year and the league leader the year before. But he expects to be gone soon after Christmas. Meantime, Dolph Camilli is threatening not to leave his cows and other fauna to shift for themselves on his California ranch, may mean that some more punch will be removed from the lineup. Others among the Dodgers must go.

Coach in Navy

Ray Flaherty, above, head coach of the Washington Redskins of the National pro football league since 1937, has been sworn into the United States Naval Reserves. He is expected to go on active service after the Redskins championship playoff game with the Chicago Bears in Washington, Dec. 13.

Bears' Defeat Proves Football Whacky Game

Redskins To Divide $35,397.47 Following Stunning 14-6 Win

By BILL ZIMMERMAN
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The Washington Redskins were called together today to divide the winner's share from the world's championship pro game in which they completely outfought the supposedly invincible Chicago Bears and won 14 to 6.

Some 36,006 frozen fans jammed into Griffith stadium and paid $113,260.40—the biggest gate in play-off history of the National pro league—$35,397.47 of which went to the Redskins players pool. The stunned Chicago club was given $23,598.32, or $632.12 to each Bear voted a full share.

Only one word can describe the 3 to 1 underdog Washington team that stopped the great Bears after they had won 24 straight games and the championship in 1940 and last year. The Redskins were terrific.

While the Bears had previously run over their opponents with their great power and "T" formation, the Redskins were ready for everything they could offer.

Line Plays Tops

The Washington line, perhaps one of the best ever put on a field, broke the rock-ribbed Bears forward wall into pebbles while the Redskins backfield play was never better.

The Bears were not able to score a touchdown on their own power and their lone six points were a gift which came in the second quarter when big Lee Artoe, Chicago's all-league tackle, scooped up Dick Todd's fumble in midfield and ran untouched to the Washington goal line.

After Artoe failed to convert, the Redskins went on the warpath to avenge the 73-0 humiliating loss to the Bears in the 1940 championship game.

Slingin Sammy Baugh, who played 60 full minutes and quarterbacked the greatest game of his career, whipped a brilliant 50 yard pass which was sensationally caught by Wilbur Moore who seemed to be completely wrapped up at the time by Johnny Petty, Chicago fullback.

Then in the next period, Andy Farkas sparked a 44 yard touchdown march, finally diving over from the one yard line. Farkas had been hit in the jaw by an elbow earlier in the game and later could not remember making the touchdown.

After that the Redskins played a wonderful defensive game, even preventing the bears from scoring from the Washington three yard stripe on four downs during the last three minutes.

Complete pandemonium reigned after the game. The huge crowd surged out on the field and tore up the place. The goal posts were broken down and quickly splintered up for souvenirs.

As a result of their victory, the Redskins will play the National League's All-stars Dec. 27 in Philadelphia, disbanding after that.

Zivic-Notch Scrap Billed For Tuesday

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—Two married men, both 3-A in the draft, are going to mix it up for the benefit of local sportdom tomorrow night when ex-welterweight champion Fritzie Zivic tangles with his former stablemate Carmen Notch in what is billed as a "grudge battle."

Papa Zivic will have the vocal support of Mrs. Zivic and three little Zivics while Papa Notch, who is 24, will be cheered on by Mrs. Notch and one little Notch.

Both Zivic and Notch once were under the same manager, Ample Luke Carney. But, while Fritzie was climbing steadily to the top and in 1940 toppled Henry Armstrong from the welterweight pinnacle, Notch alleges he was kept under wraps and used only as Zivic's sparring mate.

Eventually Carmen struck out for himself; left the Carney stable; hired himself a new manager, and started the long road to the big time. That he has arrived is attested by his long-sought-for match with Fritzie tomorrow night.

In the eight round semi-final Mose Brown, McKeesport Negro light heavyweight, meets Curtis Sheppard, with the winner promised a bout with Ezzard Charles, middleweight sensation from Cincinnati, O.

Junior Cage Loop Meeting On Tuesday

Representatives of Junior Church Basketball league teams will meet in the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday night at 7, it was announced today.

The age limit will be 12 and 16 with team rosters ranging from 8 to 12 boys.

The eight team circuit will play every Saturday night.

All managers, who must be adults, will be required to present letters written by their ministers or priests.

All teams interested in joining are asked to send a representative to the meeting.

SHORT SPORTS

Topnotchers Hit

The Cards have lost Johnny Beazley, their best world series pitcher, and will be without the services of half a dozen others. The Yankees frankly don't know exactly what they will be able to do to put a team on the field even faintly resembling past pennant-winners and the Boston Red Sox have lost Williams and Pesky. No. 1 and No. 2 in hitting last season.

GUIDE NECESSARY

The Alaska brown bear is considered so dangerous that hunters going after him are required by Federal regulations to have a licensed guide.

SET RECORD

Eastern league teams of 1942 probably set a record for sending catchers to the big leagues. Seven went up that season, including Jimmy Wilson and Gabby Hartnett.

LIVE LONG

It is believed that few wild animals die of old age. The most frequent causes of death are food shortage, accidental injuries and natural enemies.

NAMED TOP MAN

Paul Briggs, a sophomore end on Colorado's football team, was named the top man in the university's ROTC unit recently.

Mopping Up

Boston's Ted Williams, the hard-hitting outfielder, shows his proficiency with the mop at Amherst, Mass., where he is in training for a Naval pilot's job. Ted recently received his "wings."

BOB LEE SELECTED ON ALL-STATE TEAM

IN SPORTS NEWS

BOB JOHNSON, hard-hitting Indian outfielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, who said at the close of the season he never would play "with a team as poor as the Athletics," is on the trading block. Johnson has been with the A's for 10 years.

BILL DUDLEY, ex-University of Virginia All-American football star and now a star with the Pittsburgh Steelers pro team, leads the National Professional Football league backs in total yards gained with 591 in 131 attempts.

Tony Razzano On Second Team; Jesse Gunn Gets Honorable Mention

Versatile Bob "General" Lee, who does everything on a gridiron but help lead cheers, graces the 1942 Associated Press All-Pennsylvania high school football team.

A team mate, Tony Razzano, fast Ne-Ca-Hi guards, was honored, too, being named on a second team. Another member of the WPIAL champs, Jesse Gunn, whose play was hampered by a broken bone in his right hand, was listed on the honorable mention list.

Starred Throughout

Selection of Lee is further testimony regarding the prowess of the colored athlete. From the opening kick-off the elusive left half proved sensational. He continued starring, despite efforts of opponents to check him, as the season wore on.

In the championship game with Aliquippa, he cinched the title of most valuable performer in the WPIAL and also a berth on the state eleven, the dream of every schoolboy pigskin chaser.

Only 19, the zig-zagging, piston-legged powerhouse led New Castle high in scoring with 19 sorties into touchdown land, called all plays in the huddle, punted, passed and played safety.

At least a half dozen top ranking football officials said in the dressing room after watching Lee play:

"He's a coach's dream come true. Is there anything he can't do on a football field?"

The answer is negative.

Razzano Standout

Razzano, a lad who never saw a football until he entered New Castle high, could easily fit into the first eleven. His speed, shrewd defensive play and ability to snatch fumbles and break up plays, bordered on the sensational side.

Gunn, another great colored standout, was headed for a higher berth until an injury cropped up. Even at that, his ability to chew off juicy gains at critical moments stamped him as one of the most valuable members of the championship club.

The Associated Press listed Lee as the most valuable man in the WPIAL.

THAT'S ANSWER

Mike Tresh of the White Sox, currently rated as the American league's No. 1 umpire upbraider, irritated one ump so much that the arbiter broke down and asked why Tresh said so many mean things. Without cracking a smile Mike explained: "I really don't like to do it, but my boss, Jimmy Dykes, makes me do it."

Soldier On Leave Reads In Paper He Has Won DFC

(International News Service)

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA—News travels slowly in Pacific combat zones, as Captain John Randolph, of Schertz, Texas, can authoritatively testify.

Randolph, who has been on duty on the North Australian battlefront since he came to Australia from the Philippines in late March, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross by General Douglas MacArthur for conspicuous aerial gallantry during the evacuation of air corps personnel from Bataan and Corregidor.

The award was made in April.

Randolph discovered he'd been decorated this week when he arrived in an Australian city on leave.

The item was contained in an April newspaper which he accidentally chanced to be reading.

Randolph, incidentally, trained one of the most typical of Australian wild animals into a friendly household pet. His loyal kangaroo which Randolph captured wild and carefully schooled, was the mascot for the American fighter squadron operating in Northwest Australian skies.

15-Year-Old Boy Is Veteran Of The British Navy

(International News Service)

SEATTLE. — Fifteen-year-old Victor Haggith, a British lad now in the United States, told a Seattle audience that "this is a children's war, too." He told them of English youth under bombing attacks in 1940, of the friends he had lost in the murderous war on civilians.

But young Victor Haggith wasn't speaking of himself, nor telling of the effects war has had on him.

For young Victor Haggith isn't the ordinary English boy. He is a veteran of warfare at sea, the youngest gunner in the British Merchant Navy.

"I told them I was sixteen," he said. "They knew I was fourteen but they took me anyway."

And since that June day when he first shipped out on a Dutch freighter, he's had two ships torpedoed out from under him on a single voyage, fought a gun duel with a German U-boat, been adrift for six days in a lifeboat "with four biscuits a day and two inches of water in a cup to drink."

Victor has smooth cheeks, a healthy appetite and looks just like a fifteen-year-old boy should look. Especially when he smiles and says:

"I'd rather be torpedoed than talk to a lot of strange people."

HOMECOMING AT PEOPLE'S MISSION

A special homecoming service will be held Tuesday evening in the People's Mission, Sampson street, in honor of Rev. and Mrs. William Gamble who will leave soon to make their home in Conway.

Mr. Gamble has accepted a call to the Christian and Missionary Alliance church of Conway. He has had a successful ministry in this city and has made many friends here.

There will be special music at the Tuesday evening service with Joseph Proctor in charge.

A list containing good laxative foods would contain the following: Oranges, peaches, grapes, plums apples, pears, prunes, cream, lettuce, tomatoes onions, bacon, squash, carrots, peas, spinach, and oatmeal.

Many people are puzzled by the fact that a long-distance runner will get his "second wind." According to the Public Health Service, second wind means the adjustment of the heart rate to the intake and outgo of air in the lungs.

BO — TRY, TRY AGAIN — BY FRANK BECK

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

It might have been the weather, it might have been the fact that Church was just about over or maybe someone was asleep but our personal opinion of the Alert yesterday can be summed up in a few words. It was not up to the part that we in New Castle established several months ago. The citizens in our home district, 9th precinct, 2nd ward, never heard the signal . . . no phone calls were made by the OCD headquarters because they never received official notification from wherever they are to receive such notice . . . We are not complaining to belittle this practice, in fact we firmly believe more practice periods should be included each month . . . our whole concern is that the population perfect the alert system so that if a real raid should occur our people would have a chance to care for themselves in the best way possible. Post headquarters without any notice of an Alert can hardly be expected to operate.

Ten more shopping days until Christmas . . . more and more people are going to their banks and buying Government Bonds. This Christmas will find practical gifts in the stockings of many children . . . the leading gift will be bonds. The adults of this community believe in looking at the future . . . and they have decided that they must do something to insure their children the same comforts that they enjoy. We talk about doing without this and that . . . very few things that you are doing without . . . we agree that some of the things that we are doing without could very well be supplied if the "brains" in Washington would leave their feelings at home some day and get down to work . . . but that is that . . . We still have the privilege of going where we please and talk to our friends whenever we please . . . Our boys are out there taking it the hard way. We all have something to fight for . . . that's why every one should put as much as possible and then a little more into Government Bonds . . . there are seven of them. One for each type of pocketbook . . . ask your Victory Fund Committeemen or your Banker about these new bonds . . . Do it now, don't wait until it's too late.

* * *

Have you purchased your Christmas Seals? Better do it now . . . did you know that 95% of the money taken in, stays right here in the state . . . the national organization of the Tuberculosis Association gets but 5%. Send in your buck today.

Junior Council Has Meeting

Juniors Of Red Cross Elect Officers For Coming Term At Council Meeting

Dr. John A. Meehan, chairman Junior Red Cross, announced today that the Junior Red Cross council held its first meeting on Saturday at the chapter house. Miss Ruth Lewis, co-chairman Junior Red Cross, assisted with the meeting and program.

Officers for the school term were elected and are as follows: President, Dave Horchler; vice president, Peggy Brindle; secretary, Elmer Suber; treasurer, Darlene Covert.

Each school representative made a report of the activities being carried on and their program for the future.

The Juniors have been very active since enrollment in the program, 200 Christmas boxes having been filled and sent to less fortunate children in war-torn Europe. Last year numerous letters were received from children acknowledging with thanks the receipt of the lovely boxes.

Menu covers have been made for boys in the U. S. Navy for their Christmas dinners. Ben Franklin and George Washington Junior High schools and Croton school participated in this project.

Stuffed toys and bean bags have been made by the Hillsville School for an institution for the blind in Philadelphia.

Favors have been made for the local hospitals. Most of the schools have voted to send part of their service fund money to the National Children's fund for War Nurseries, hospitals, etc.

The braille work in the chapter will continue as usual and covers will be made for Braille booklets and cards. This program will be started very shortly.

Plans for a continued scrap campaign were made. At present the juniors are collecting coat hangers for boys in the service. The latest collection will be sent to the new camp at Transfer. The future program will be very large and the council will hold a meeting monthly at the chapter house.

THE WIND DOES IT

RANDOLPH FIELD, Texas—It's neither drouth nor flood nor hail nor gophers that causes the most trouble for men who preserve the billiard-table smoothness of Randolph Field's grassy runways. Major Roy P. Ward, post operations officer who supervises care of the Randolph landing areas, plus eight outlying emergency fields, today disclosed that blasts of wind from propellers of taxiing planes do the most damage. The propeller blasts virtually blow the ground out from under the grass roots, Major Ward said, creating deep, rough holes.

Only Slight Amount Of Damage Results In Quartet Of Blazes In City

Firemen were called out four times over Sunday for small fires.

At 7:20 P. M. Saturday, Mrs. Sam McGoun, of 212 East Moody avenue, set fire to some upholstery while hunting for something with a match, and in trying to extinguish the blaze, cut her hand. She was given first aid treatment by Fireman William Bowen, of No. 2 department.

At 7:25 o'clock, Sunday morning, firemen were called to the home of R. F. Lintz, of 811 McCleary avenue, where they found the furnace was smoking.

At 10:03 A. M. Sunday, they were summoned to the Leslie Hotel, where a small blaze was extinguished by the use of the booster tank on B truck.

At 10:55 p. m. Sunday, the chief's car was called to the home of Mrs. I. I. McGregor, of 221 East Falls street, where a closed grate set fire to the mantle when soot behind it ignited. The damage was small.

Congress is still useful, if only to do things that would be bad politics if done by executive order.

Basic "A" books. This book contains eight coupons to a page, each coupon valued at three gallons of gasoline. The first page to be used contains coupons marked 3. These are valid for two months, to be used partially or all at one time, for a period ending midnight January 21.

"B" or "C" books. The holders of "B" or C" books have been entitled to supplemental rations and may use these extra rations along with their basic 'A" books. These books are tailored to individual needs and the expiration date is marked on the cover of the coupon book. Each unit or coupon is worth four gallons of gasoline. These coupons must be used within the date marked.

Renewals for "B" or "C" books should be made by application to the local rationing board 30 days before the expiration date.

Appeals on the action taken by local boards in connection with supplemental rationing allotments are taken by filing a special form available at the board headquarters. This form is known as R-122 and must be filed in duplicate with the local board.

Gasoline station owners must see that each ration coupon turned in to them has the license number and state of the car owner, and that that number corresponds with the license number of the car into which he puts the gasoline. This number should be written on the ration coupon in ink or indelible pencil.

The license number and state or the number of the certificate of war necessity issued to the truck owner must be marked on the back of the "T" coupons.

"T" coupons are NOT to be used by passenger car owners nor is a gasoline dealer permitted to accept a "T" coupon for gasoline to be used in a passenger car unless this vehicle is a common carrier and registered with the Office of Defense Transportation and carries a certificate of war necessity, signifying that they are common carriers.

Health Talks

SUSIE STARTS SCRATCHING

About this time of the year Susie comes home from school with livestock in her hair. For several days she has been scratching rather vigorously, but no one paid much attention. Finally Susie is rushed to the doctor and for a few days things are going on at Susie's home.

Perhaps it would be O. K. to discuss the problem. There are three kinds of lice: head lice, body lice and crab lice. The head louse stays in the hair all the time. She lays her egg on a hair and glues it on tight. The egg and glue and all is called a nit. It is glued on so fast that you cannot get it off. In a few days the egg hatches and the baby louse starts going places. The head louse seems to like little girls the best.

A good way to get rid of head lice is to fine comb the head. Then soak the hair in kerosene and put on a stocking cap or a bandana and leave it on for a few hours. Then wash it out with lots of soap. Then go through the same process, using vinegar instead of kerosene. The kerosene kills the lice and the vinegar loosens the nits.

Now wait a few days and go through the same process all over again. In a week or two Susie will be O. K. unless she gets more from some of her friends.

Body lice are larger than head lice, but have six legs, same as the others. They like older people better and do not get into the scalp. They travel around the shoulders and breast mostly. They cause a lot of scratching. They get in the seams of clothing and lay their eggs in them. By searching the seams and folds you can find both lice and eggs. To get rid of body lice you must kill them by heat. Boil the clothes or bake them in the oven or press them with a hot iron.. Then sprinkle sulphur in the seams and on your body, too. Goodbye louse.

Crab lice are still another variety. They have two sets of legs with hooks on them. The cure for crabs is to take a hot, soapy bath when you get out of jail.

A good book to read is "Rats, Lice and History", by Dr. Zinnser.
